Council Pulls Plug On Bret Harte Drainage District

Problem To Be Attacked Piecemeal

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The San Rafael City Council pulled the plug last night on the Bret Harte Drainage Assessment District.

Down the now-dry drain went the million-dollar district, protested by owners of more than 90 per cent of the property which would have been assessed, as the council voted unanimously for Fred E. Jensen's motion that proceedings to set it up be terminated.

In its place, the city will attack the Bret Harte flood problem piecemeal—and hope.

First piece will be $5,000 participation, with Northwestern Pacific Railroad to pay an equal amount, to widen a culvert taking flood water from behind the Geister Brothers property on DuBois Street under the railroad tracks.

Another step will be repair of city pumps. Mayor John F. McInnis angrily disclosed on April 1 that three of five pumps were inoperative during last winter's heavy flooding.

The joint project with the railroad was urged anew to the council last night by Carl Rickards, a Bret Harte property owner. The council voted unanimously to spend the $5,000.

The matter of the pumps was pressed by Councilman Harry A. Barbier and a member of the audience.

"I have $20,000 in the budget," said Public Works Director Norris Rawles when asked by Barbier, "What's the status of those pumps?"

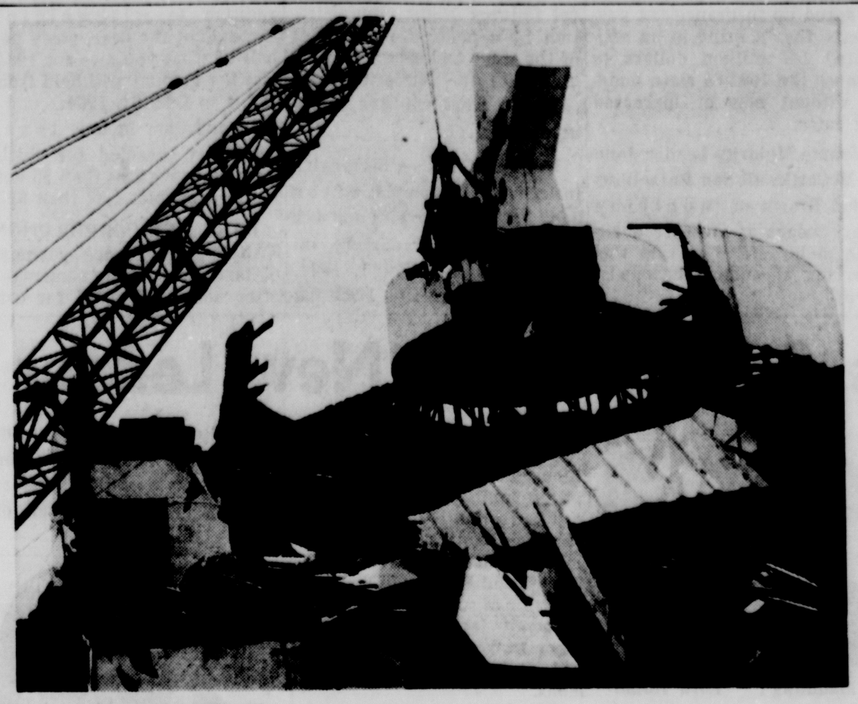

A member of the audience, who did not identify himself, demanded a more direct answer.

"They'll be fixed by October?" queried Barbier. "They will all be done?"

Mayor McInnis answered for Rawles with what might be interpreted as an order: "The pumps will be fixed before fall."

STAR DUST

A relic of the 1939 San Francisco World Fair went down into rubble today.

A Ghilotti Brothers clamshell (left) bit away the star that carried the "StarKist Tuna" signature during the fair on the building that ended its life as the Starlite Club beside Highway 101 north of San Rafael. Destruction of the entire building followed rapidly.

The structure was cleared to make way for the Northgate Regional Shopping Center being developed by the Draper Companies.

The building was erected on Treasure Island for the world fair. After the fair's run in 1939 and 1940, it was bought by Mrs. Gertrude Dibble of Sausalito and barged to Marin, where it was reassembled and operated as a tavern.

LOST GIRL'S RETRIEVER TURNS POINTER

Three-year-old Margot Benson got lost in Sausalito this morning but police, by following Margot's big black dog, Rollo, returned her to her home.

Police Chief Howard Goerndt said he got a call that a little girl was lost at Johnson Street and Glen Drive. He found the girl but she was unable to tell where she lived.

However, he followed her Labrador retriever along Glen to Curry Avenue and finally to the Walter Benson home at 46 Platte Avenue, a distance of about a mile, and Margot was home again.

Belvedere Plans Unit Again Turns Down Annexation

By CORENA GREEN

Unimpressed by a compromise plan involving a proposed parking "district," the Belvedere Planning Commission last night again turned thumbs down on annexation of a section of Tiburon to Belvedere.

The three members attending unanimously opposed annexing the area bounded by Beach Road, Tiburon Boulevard, the Maritime Center and Main Street, which had been offered to the city by Fred G. Zelinsky and Belvedere Land Co.

It also turned down the offer of 150 parking spaces made by Zelinsky to be shared by Belvedere and Tiburon, on the grounds that Zelinsky already had promised the county planning commission 147 spaces for existing commercial establishments.

However, the commission will recommend to the Belvedere City Council, which will meet July 1, that annexation of the rest of the Boardwalk be considered.

Considerable friction was generated at the meeting over the results of a work session June 5 attended by representatives of the city council, planning commission, Tiburon Incorporation Committee, and landowners. A report prepared by Councilman E. G. Weed stated accord had been reached on a plan whereby Zelinsky agreed to establish a parking district offering 125 stalls to Tiburon and 25 to Belvedere in perpetuity, in return for annexing the area to Belvedere.

Elva Paske, chairman of the Tiburon Incorporation Committee, not so enchanted with the plan as the council had thought, requested annexation only to Beach Road. "The parking district would not solve the problem," she wrote.

She also said the idea of meetings of city representatives and Tiburon Incorporation Boundary Committee had been rejected.

WEEPING DOG UPSET BY JEWEL THIEVES

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Meituo, an overly content Pekingese, failed to bark when burglars ransacked her masters' home—in fact, she cried.

"We've had to give her tranquilizers," said Mrs. Al Livingston, Meituo's owner. "She's so upset."

The year-old dog has perfect vocal-cords but she has never barked. "The veterinarian says she's so contented she doesn't want to bark," Mrs. Livingston said.

She estimated the burglars escaped with $8,000 worth of jewels and fur Sunday night.

Vandals Go Wild With B-B Guns— Windows Broken

Vandals with B-B guns ran amuck in Marinwood early today, shooting out car windows and glass from telephone booths and service stations in the shopping center.

Reports of damage poured into the sheriff's office this morning, with total expected to reach $1,000.

The rampage must have started about 1 a.m. Sgt. Edward McKamey, on patrol near the Marinwood Shopping Center, said glass was still cracking when he spotted the first signs of damage at Hap Eddy's Service Station and the Union Service Station across the street shortly after that hour.

Windows of the phone booths at both stations were shattered. So was glass in the gasoline pumps at the Union Oil station owned by Paul Llewellyn.

Cars near the shopping center and especially along Blackstone Drive were peppered with B-Bs. Sheriff's investigators said the vandals seemed to concentrate on knocking out the rear windows of parked cars.

A 1962 sedan owned by Frank R. Lindsey, 414 Blackstone Drive; 1963 sedan owned by Robert E. Buell of 455 Blackstone; a 1961 station wagon of Robert R. Smith, 428 Blackstone; a 1960 station wagon of Julia J. Reade of 116 Blackstone; 1952 sedan owned by Mrs. Delores Latini of 369 Peachstone.

At the shopping center, a 1962 pickup truck registered to Marinwood Rangers had a shattered windshield and rear window. Also damaged were a 1960 sedan registered to Joel Hedgpeth of 175 Marinwood Avenue, and a 1954 or 1955 station wagon, owner not immediately determined.

The Kentfield area also took a beating, to a lesser extent.

Mary Mazzoni of 11 Cedar Avenue, Kentfield, reported last evening that youngsters wer denting cars with hammers. At 9:40 p.m., a night watchman at Marin General Hospital reported a rear window broken out of a parked car, and a few minutes later came a report from 500 Goodhill Road that juveniles had plastered a car with eggs.

"Well, you can tell school is out!" said sheriff's deputies.

Youths On Hike Shot With B-Bs

Three boys armed with B-B guns chased and shot at two other boys on a hike at Mount Tamalpais yesterday afternoon, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Len J. Oliveira, 14, of 369 Tennessee Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, was shot with a pellet in the left shoulder.

Len and Mike Doherty of Lagunitas were hiking along Shoreline Highway when they were accosted by three armed boys, all 14 years old, near the intersection with the Muir Woods and Mount Tamalpais roads.

The three attackers chased Len and Mike, firing about six shots with a B-B revolver and rifle.

Deputy Sheriff W. R. Keaton Jr. went to the area about 5 p.m. and caught the three boys at the Diez Ranch. Two of them, both from Mill Valley, admitted firing the shots, Deputy Keaton reported. They were cited to appear before the sheriff's juvenile officer. The weapons were confiscated.

Fog Breaks Heat After 96 Reading

High fog moved in today to break the hot spell which sent temperatures in Marin County soaring into the 90s again yesterday.

At noon today the temperature was 69, as compared with yesterday's noon reading of 78.

High temperature reported in the county yesterday was 96 degrees in Novato. The mercury reached 95 in Woodacre and San Anselmo, 83 on Mount Tamalpais and 81 in San Rafael.

Cosmonaut Sets Record For Orbits

MOSCOW (AP)—Lt. Col. Valery Bykovsky broke all world records today for distance and orbits around the world in space. But his ship was losing altitude.

His female space partner, Valentina Tereshkova, whipped into her third day in orbit, apparently still maintaining her altitude and speed. She reported she was feeling fine.

At 3 p.m. Moscow time Bykovsky entered his fifth day in space and surpassed by two orbits the 64-orbit record set by his fellow cosmonaut, Maj. Andrian Nikolayev, in a flight of just under four days last August.

A bulletin broadcast at 5 p.m. said Bykovsky's ship was 119.9 miles from the earth at maximum distance and 98.7 miles at minimum distance.

Both Bykovsky and Miss Tereshkova appeared on television screens.

The broadcasts gave no hint that either was preparing to descend. There had been indications that the colonel's flight was drawing to a close, and that Valentina would return to earth soon after him.

Western observers said that the dwindling orbit of Bykovsky in his Vostok 5 capsule could make it dangerous for him to remain in space much longer.

They speculated that the

Hungry Dog Kills Colorado Boy, 2

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Brett Alan Whitney, 2, was bitten to death by a hungry Siberian husky dog, police reported today.

The boy's lacerated body was found in the backyard of his home yesterday. His mother, Mrs. Donna Whitney, said two Siberian dogs owned by Clair J. Bankston were chained in the yard. Bankston lives in another section of the duplex home.

She said Bankston had been on a fishing trip, and the dogs had not been fed except a few table scraps she gave them.

JFK To Ask Retraining Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy and Democratic congressional leaders conferred on the civil rights issue today and came up with a proposal to stimulate vocational education and retraining of workers.

This, the leaders said, will be part of the civil rights package Kennedy will present to Congress tomorrow. But eventually it may take the form of separate legislation, they said.

Retraining and vocational education fit into the problem of how to handle the racial issue because a larger proportion of Negroes than whites is unemployed and a larger proportion is unskilled labor.

The Kennedy-leadership conference was one of a series at a time when the administration's efforts to solve the racial question are drawing a broad, varied reaction. Some persons think the president is not doing enough fast enough and others say he is moving too far and too swiftly.

Ten governors were invited to the White House for lunch with the president and discussions certain focus on civil rights.

The president talks civil rights tomorrow with leaders in the education field and on Friday with lawyers from over the nation.

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The legislature today gave its support to a move aimed at improving California's cultural life.

By a 6 to 3 vote the Assembly sent to Gov. Edmund G. Brown's desk a bill creating a California Arts Commission to make a comprehensive survey of the state's needs in the fields of music, the theater, dance, painting, sculpture, architecture and similar arts and crafts.

NWP Appeals To ICC For Full Hearing

Northwestern Pacific Railroad yesterday appealed to the Interstate Commerce Commission for hearing by the full commission of its turndown of abandonment of the Puerto Suello tunnel and 2.56 miles of railroad mainline in and north of San Rafael.

The ICC rejected the railroad's abandonment petition by decision of its three-member "division 3" panel on June 5.

In asking hearing by the entire 11-man ICC, attorneys Randolph Karr and Harold S. Lentz of Southern Pacific Co., sole owner of NWP, contended that "an issue of general transportation importance is involved." Such an issue is required before the full ICC will consider hearing an appeal from a decision of one of its divisions.

The attorneys' petition says "general transportation importance" is involved because the question "is whether certain railroad funds are to be used economically, or whether that money should be invested to improve efficiency and service with the consequent benefits to the public."

It holds that rebuilding the Puerto Suello Tunnel, partially destroyed by fire on July 20, 1961, would cost at least $851,000, and that this money would be spent "to perpetuate an uneconomical route of the Sante Fe" when another route (the NWP line through Schellville) is available.

These points were debated in protracted hearings before ICC examiner F. Roy Linn last year. He rejected the NWP's petition, and was upheld unanimously by the ICC's division board.

Appeal for hearing by the full ICC had been forecast by attorneys for the City of San Rafael as a "last-ditch" effort by the railroad to avoid reopening the tunnel.

BAAR SAYS RUBBISH

Build-It-Yourself Park Is Suggested

Something new in the do-it-yourself line was offered to the City of San Rafael last night: A build-it-yourself park.

The proposal came from L. H. Lincoln of Lincoln Lumber Co., developer of a vast area of homesites on land now under water in East San Rafael. City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen had approached the firm in seeking a new site for the city's rubbish dump, the present one being nearly filled.

Lincoln's proposal was that the city would lease-option six underwater acres at $1 a year and fill the area by dumping the rubbish there. Following the fill-and-cover system, the land would rise out of the bay in five years. Then the city could buy it for recreation use, the price being the cost of fill already poured by Lincoln Lumber, not to exceed $17,500.

Councilmen thought the proposal interesting, but Councilman L. H. Bud Baar objected, "There are too many conditions in the proposed contract." He objected especially to one calling for an advance commitment of approval of final plans for Lincoln's development, which already has preliminary approval.

City Manager Andersen was directed to ask for a build-it-yourself contract free of impediments.

Goldwater Applause For Scranton

WASHINGTON (AP)—A move to make Gov. William A. Scranton of Pennsylvania a favorite son candidate for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination won applause today from Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.)

Goldwater, who is being boomed by some Republicans for the 1964 nomination, said in an interview he thinks that would be "a very wise move for Pennsylvania to make when there are no announced candidates."

Brown Commutes Slayer's Sentence

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Calling him clearly deranged, Gov. Edmund G. Brown has commuted the sentence of Clarence Edward Ashley, convicted of killing a 6-year-old girl, from death to life in prison without possibility of parole.

Withholding Tax Prospects Brighten

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Once-gloomy prospects for passage of a withholding tax, along with the rest of Gov. Edmund G. Brown's revenue speedup program, perked up appreciably in the legislature today.

Most of the big package passed its biggest test yet yesterday. The bills came through the Senate revenue and taxation committee with 6-3 approval. The ayes were all Democratic, the noes Republican.

The administration yielded to Senate demands and agreed to postpone the start of payroll deductions on income taxes from July 1, 1964 to Oct. 1, 1964. The 50 per cent forgiveness on 1964 incomes remained unchanged.

Expected clearance by the Senate Finance Committee will bring the withholding and tax acceleration measures to a vote in the heavily Democratic Senate in this, the final week of the legislative session.

Coupled with a pending bill to speed up insurance tax payments, they'll bring in an estimated 147 million dollars to finance the 1963-64 state budget without new or increased tax rates.

Senate Minority Leader John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael) accused Brown of "applying every means of pressure available to his office to ram this new tax through the legislature."

"He is trying to hide the fiscal failures of his administration by a political pick-pocket of the wage and salary earners of California," McCarthy said.

Here's what the tax measures would do:

INCOME TAX — Eliminates installment payments after Jan. 1, 1964. Provides for tax payments out of current income beginning Oct. 1, 1964. You'd pay your full 1963 tax on April 15, 1964. In 1965, in addition to withholding throughout the year, you'd pay half of what you owe for 1964, less the amount withheld from Oct. 1 to Dec. 31, 1964.

In addition, income taxes would be canceled for single persons owing less than $5 and married couples less than $10.

BANK AND CORPORATION TAXES — Eliminates payment of taxes in two installments—after March 15, 1964 for corporations and March 15, 1965 for banks.

GIFT TAX—Reduces the annual gift tax exemption from $4,000 to $3,000, bringing California into conformity with the federal government.

Britain Conservatives Searching For New Leader

Hailsham — Butler — Maudling — Lord Home

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Conservative party started to search for a new leader today in the wake of a hollow note of confidence given Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's handling of the Profumo scandal.

Conservative legislators said privately the only question is whether Macmillan will resign quickly or wait until the party can settle on a new leader for the election battle that must come before October 1964.

Twenty-seven Conservatives, most of them younger members of the party's right wing, defied party orders last night and refused to back Macmillan in a vote of confidence in the House of Commons over the Profumo affair.

Macmillan won his confidence vote 321-252. This spared the life of his government and officially cleared him of any suspicion of trying to cover up security risks in former War Minister John Profumo's love affair with the mistress of a Soviet naval attache.

But during the debate before the vote Macmillan was obliged to make two damaging admissions:

That Profumo's lying completely deceived him and his ministers.

That his security organs, already compromised by a succession of spy scandals, knew less of Profumo's intrigue than London newspapers—and failed to tell him what little they did know.

A major embarrassment for the Conservatives is their lack of a ready-made successor for Macmillan.

The logical pick would be Richard A. Butler, the deputy prime minister. But Butler is disliked intensely in the right wing of the party.

Lord Home, the foreign secretary, and Lord Hailsham, the minister of science, would have to allow them to renounce their titles and sit in the House of Commons.

The likeliest choice therefore could be Reginald Maudling, the chancellor of the exchequer. He is 46 and capable of matching the vigor which 47-year-old Harold Wilson has brought to the leadership of the Labor party.

An immediate consequence of the House debate will be another probe into Britain's security system.

Wilson wants an all-party committee of the House of Commons to undertake the investigation. Macmillan prefers an inquiry by a panel of judges.

SUPREME COURT DECISION

Reactions Mild To Bible Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court's sweeping decision outlawing required Bible readings and the recitation of the Lord's Prayer in public schools appeared today to have been accepted with little commotion in or out of Congress.

The ruling, affecting thousands of classrooms across the land, was obviously expected, however, in view of the court's action last year against use of a non-denominational prayer composed by New York authorities for public schools.

That decision brought down a storm of criticism on the tribunal, especially from Congress.

But congressional reaction to yesterday's 8 to 1 ruling was comparatively mild. Generally, the feeling seemed to be that interpreting the laws and the Constitution was the court's job.

The court, acting on cases from Pennsylvania and Maryland, specifically barred Bible reading and the recital of the Lord's Prayer as part of required classroom exercises in public schools.

But there appeared to be no room under the decision for a teacher to hold such exercises on her own since public school teachers are government employees.

Two cases resulted from requirements in Baltimore, Md., and Abingdon, Pa., that public schools be opened daily with devotionals. The suits were brought by parents, who, as Unitarians or atheists, said the exercises were offensive to their beliefs.

The court also, in a brief order, set aside a Florida Supreme Court decision which had upheld the practice of opening devotionals in Miami schools.

In another case involving the question of government and religion, the tribunal ruled 7 to 2 that a Seventh Day Adventist who lost her job for refusing to work on Saturday because of her religious beliefs is entitled to unemployment compensation.

In general, the reaction of the clergy was temperate.

Dr. Theodore F. Adams, former president of the Baptist World Alliance, remarked, "I'm personally grateful that we have a Supreme Court that stands so firmly for the separation of church and state."

The Most Rev. William G. Connare, bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Greensburg, Pa., said, "With even a token recognition of Him now gone from the public schools, the problem becomes totally that of home and church."

"I recognize the right of any minority," said the Rt. Rev. Robert A. Brown, Episcopal bishop of Arkansas, "but I think something as all inclusive as the Holy Scriptures, or something as general as the Lord's Prayer, are not detrimental to the freedom of the people."

Rabbi Joachim Prinz, president of the American Jewish Congress, welcomed the decision, saying, "The court has underscored the importance of the home, the church and the synagogue as the proper means of transmitting our spiritual heritage to our young people."

Practice Bomb Hits, Explodes In Indiana Home

COLUMBUS, Ind. (UPI) — As Nancy Frese, 19, worked in the kitchen at the rear of her family's farm home yesterday she heard a jet plane pass overhead. Suddenly she was shaken by "the loudest noise I've ever heard."

A practice marker bomb about 18 inches long, accidentally released from the plane, whistled through the front porch roof at a 45 degree angle, plummeted through a bedroom floor and exploded as it plowed six feet into the earth under the house.

Splinters flew and the house filled with acrid smoke. No one was injured in the mishap. Air Force officials said the practice bombs carried an explosive charge equivalent to that in a 10-gauge shotgun shell.

Mechanization is a major reason why one farmer today produces as much as four famers did in 1910.

State Appeals To U.S. For $97.3 Million Water Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—A delegation of 30 California public officials concerned with water development appealed to Congress today for federal funds totaling 97.3 million dollars.

Ralph M. Brody of Fresno, chairman of the California Water Commission, emphasized that the state and its local agencies are not relying on federal money alone, having embarked an immense water projects of their own.

William E. Warne, state director of water resources, called attention to the San Luis reclamation project — a joint federal-state undertaking — in which the state is paying 55 per cent of the cost. He said the state's contribution during the next 12 months is estimated at 43 million dollars.

Brady and Warne headed a delegation of local officials prepared to justify before the House public works appropriations subcommittee the state's requests for dozens of separate projects in the construction, planning and survey stage.

In all, the California requests for flood control totaled $41,364,400 and for reclamation 99 million dollars of which 43 million will be supplied by California in connection with the San Luis project. The figures exceed President John F. Kennedy's budget estimates by 3.7 million dollars.

The California group recommended unbudgeted new construction starts on two flood control projects: West Fork Dam on the Mojave River, and the Tahchevah Creek project in Palm Springs.

New planning starts urged were Mormon Slough channel, Buchanan Dam, Hidden Dam, Warm Springs Dam, Alameda Creek and New Melones reservoir.

Behr Is Alarmed By Road Budget

Alarm was voiced by county supervisor Peter Behr yesterday as county road budget consideration by the board of supervisors neared its close after four hours of work with only slight reduction likelly from its nearly two million dollar initial estimate.

With a prospect for a bill about half a million over the road budget for the current year, Behr said he was disturbed, and then was explicit as to the reason for his disturbance.

"Perhaps," said he, "I'll be in a minority on Thursday when we consider capital improvements and again the matter of saving money for the second phase of the civic center comes up."

Last year Behr had a hard fight, with support from Supervisor William A. Gnoss and from chairman Walter R. Castro, who is now absent due to illness, to keep the civic center capital accumulation program under way. Supervisors William D. Fusselman and George Ludy didn't commit themselves about the civic center yesterday, but Ludy spoke out strongly against cuts in the road budget.

"You want to reduce what I consider the most important budget in the county," declared Ludy. "When there's an argument over a chuckhole, whom do they call up? Their supervisor, that's who."

Behr conceded that the supervisors heard plenty about roads but insisted that this didn't necessarily give roads top priority.

Public works director Donald R. Frost said Marin's past restriction of road outlay to what came back from gasoline and sales taxes "may be the reason for the present situation." He felt much upkeep is overdue. It appeared the board majority felt that way too.

The board moved along without drawing a new total on what its decisions had done to the originally recommended $1,971,198 amount bu a fast glance over the figures disclosed little prospect that the total would be materially reduced.

Administrator Alan Bruce announced that auditor Michael Mitchell had fractured his right hand when it was caught between two boats Sunday. As Mitchell has been keeping the running record of figures resulting from board discussions of the budget, his absence cut off the supply of departmental totals and their impact on the county tax rate.

GETS GOLD BARS — Timothy Fitzharris of San Rafael has been commissioned second lieutenant in the Army Reserve. Fitzharris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cletus J. Fitzharris of San Rafael, was graduated from the University of California at Davis this month with military distinction. While at Davis, he was president of Scabbard and Blade, military honorary society. He will begin training Sept. 24 at the Provost Marshal School at Fort Benning, Ga.

School Unit Approves Doherty Drive Routing

The Tamalpais Union High School District board last night approved routing of an extended Doherty Drive, which will be constructed by the City of Larkspur to tie into Lucky Drive.

The plan, worked out between the district and City Engineer B. J. Whitlow, would bring Doherty Drive no closer to a school building than 55 feet and provide one entrance to the school property.

Supt. Chester G. Carlisle said construction was not in the city's budget for the next fiscal year but would probably be included in the 1964-1965 budget.

The Tamalpais Union High School District board also:

1. Decided to continue the program of teacher aides, recruited from volunteers from the Marin County branch of the Junior League, after hearing Asst. Supt. Robert D. Torrey report the program was "generally promising."

2. Agreed to pay the Marin County Housing Authority for light poles and 10 per cent of the administrative and engineering overhead, which is above the $175,000 minimum set by the district as its share of the cost of improvement to its Marin City site.

3. Approved a new four-year contract for Torrey.

4. Approved a contract with the county schools office for audio-visual services for the next fiscal year.

5. Approved a structural survey of Mead Theater at Tamalpais High School, which shows signs of rot due to water running underneath it, according to Carlisle.

6. Hired Wilbur Wilkin of Fairfax as a driving instructor.

Corinthian Yacht Club Remodeling Approved

Architectural approval for remodeling the Corinthian Yacht Club was granted last night by the Belvedere Planning Commission.

According to Commodore Edgar Wade of San Francisco, the club will not change the exterior of the building as "We aim to retain it as a landmark." It will be shored up underneath and completely remodeled inside, he said. The club plans to start immediately. Wade estimated the remodeling would take 90 days to complete.

Abolishing Job Called Subterfuge

A proposal to abolish the job of clerk in the San Rafael Fire Department was branded a subterfuge last night by City Councilman Fred E. Jensen.

The 1963-64 budget presented by City Manager Dan E. Andersen calls for no fire department clerk, but for a dispatcher at a lower salary.

City Atty. David Menary Jr. said the charter requires that to abolish a position, the council must find that either (a) it must be dropped for economy, or (b) the need for it no longer exists.

As Menary concluded his explanation, Jensen declared:

"I don't think any job should be abolished to fire a man. It's using subterfuge. . . If the man's incompetent, he should be fired."

Councilman Charles W. Aby hastily interposed, "I think this needs further discussion." Mayor John F. McInnis directed that it be "held over."

The job of fire department clerk is held by Jack Travis, who has held several other jobs during a long period of city employment. He receives $412 per month.

Novato Highway Job

The State Department of Public Works yesterday granted a $121,179.40 contract to Reichhold and Jurkovich of San Pablo for installation of underdrains and reconstruction of shoulders along Highway 101 from Atherton Avenue north of Novato to the Sonoma County line.

TOMALES TRANSFER MADE DIFFICULT

The Tamalpais Union High School District board last night left only a small crack open in the doors of the district's schools for admission of students seeking transfers from Tomales High School.

According to a policy laid down by the Tamalpais board, which also governs transfers from other school districts, inter-district agreements will only be granted if:

1. The "educational implications" of the applicant, as determined by Supt. Chester G. Carlisle, warrant it.

2. The school district in which the student is a resident agrees to pay the cost of education in the Tamalpais district, estimated by Carlisle to be $892.93 per student.

3. And the same district approves the inter-district agreement.

Carlisle told the board that four students from Tomales are seeking transfers to Redwood High School. He said he expects at least two more applications.

Of the four, whose applications have been approved by the Tomales Joint Union High School District board, Carlisle said he turned down two on the basis that the Latin courses they wish to take at Redwood are available through correspondence courses. He has not yet taken action on the other two.

He said no payment by the Tomales district had been mentioned.

The Tamalpais board, with trustee Edmund J. Thomas Jr. absent, voted to uphold Carlisle's action.

Chairman Delman D. Smith said granting the transfers could "open the floodgates. Our responsibility is here at home first and foremost."

Board member James M. Stubblebine said that it was the parents obligation "if they move into a school district to know the conditions of the school at Tomales."

Donald Patterson of Inverness, parent of one of the Tomales students, said: "We do not pride ourselves on a Tomales education. The ranching element of West Marin is in control of the education system."

Attorney William B. Wolfson, representing three of the parents, argued that correspondence courses could hinder a student who seeks admission to Harvard University, where one of the Tomales students wishes to enroll. However, Carlisle said Harvard accepts correspondence course credits.

The board indicated its new policy would also apply to inter-district transfers from San Rafael High School District, where transfers both ways have been on "an equal basis," according to Carlisle.

Anti-Cheater Firm Fails To Return Parking Meters

Traffic Controls, Inc., the firm that was eager six weeks ago to install anti-cheaters on San Rafael's parking meters, hasn't yet returned 15 meter heads it borrowed for installation of the devices.

Moreover, it hasn't yet submitted a contract for the 30-day trial installation.

And on top of that, a letter from the company to City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen "indicates they are trying to attach strings that weren't in the original agreement," City Atty. David Menary Jr. told the San Rafael City Council last night.

The council, which cooled considerably toward the anti-cheaters after authorizing the trial installation by 4-0 vote (with Mayor John F. McInnis absent that night), directed Menary to write the company to either submit a contract "with no strings" or return the meter heads with no anti-cheaters.

Terra Linda-Lucas Valley Road Decision Requested

Decisions will have to be made about a possible road from the Terra Linda-Lucas Valley area over the hill to Ross Valley before planning can be done for Sleepy Hollow.

This was the recommendation yesterday of Sleepy Hollow landowners to the Marin County Planning Commission in requesting a meeting on the long-discussed road linking the two areas.

Planning Director B. D. Dobbs said "precise zoning" is desired by owners of some 140 acres between Sleepy Hollow and Terra Linda, but roads should be planned first.

The commission agreed to delay any zoning recommendations until landowners, planners and public works officials consider possible routes over the hill.

Owners of the property, now under the county's interim zoning, will meet Thursday at 1 p.m. in Room 413 in the Civic Center with Dobbs, Public Works Director Donald R. Frost, and representatives from the Northgate shopping center, Sleepy Hollow Homes Assn., and the cities of San Anselmo and San Rafael.

Early Council Meet

The Mill Valley City Council will convene at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at which time, according to Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks, it will meet with officers of the Mill Valley Employees Assn. regarding their request for increased wages. Normally the council meets at 8 p.m.

Supervisors Approve Budget Of $105,000 For Marin Fair

Marin County supervisors today approved a Marin County Fair budget totaling $105,000.

For the first time in history, Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell pointed out, this budget will involve a special tax levy, just under two cents on the county tax rate.

Reason for this was a recommendation by Public Works Director Donald R. Frost that the budget include $80,000 for a northerly access road to the fairgrounds beside the Civic Center from the Terra Linda interchange. This money is to be divided into two outlays, $60,000 for road building and $20,000 to pay half the cost of a bridge over a waterway. Local residents are expected to pay the other $20,000 for a $40,000 bridge and provide $40,000 for additional road.

Frost said he felt this project should be pressed through without delay before the residents lost enthusiasm for participation. Ultimately, he said, the road may extend south to afford an additional route to San Rafael.

As to the fair itself, the budget provided for outlay of $25,000 with prospect to receive $31,500 from rents and concessions, giving a $6,500 profit. Added to an estimated balance on hand of $18,200, this should provide $24,700 as partial offset to the road and bridge requirements.

DISTRICT

abandon the district, engineer Daniel P. Coleman reported that he and attorney Edwin N. Ness had studied various proposals for enlarging the area included in the assessments, reducing the project, etc.

"We are pretty well back where we were," he said, all other proposals having been abandoned as not feasible.

Coleman said the engineering studies he made for the district — for which the council obligated the city to pay — need not be wasted as they "are set up so they can be put into effect a piece at a time." Of the railroad culvert project, he commented, "This is one piece."

The city is also obligated to pay attorney's fees to Ness for his work on the district — which cannot be put to further use.

BELVEDERE

asked why, if there had been no agreement at this work session, was the matter even sent to the planning commission.

"You could have knocked me over with a feather when I found out a committee member had reversed her position," Weed replied.

The committee for the Preservation of the Present Residential Character of Belvedere came well-armed with photostats indicating that the county planning commission had been unable to make Zelinsky comply with its zoning regulations—particularly provision of 147 parking spaces.

Co-chairman Mrs. James L. Heynemann and Mrs. Chester C. Vargas said additional parking would be needed for the proposed Belvedere Inn which Zelinsky wants to build.

Louis O. Britt, representing Zelinsky, presented a proposed parking zone map showing 153 spaces. ("Including 13 sport cars" quipped George Banning, planning commission chairman.)

Fred Mantegani said Zelinsky had agreed to form a parking district several years ago when he was seeking to build the Dock Restaurant.

"Margaret Azevedo, county planning commissioner at the time, took him at his word and the county spent many hours working out a plan. After the Dock was built the district plan was dropped," said Azevedo.

"Could this annexation defeat Tiburon?" asked Commissioner Frederick Jandrey. To which Mantegani replied: "You are taking the plum right away from us. This thing is steamrolling now. People are coming to us wanting to be included in Tiburon."

"It's now or never for Belvedere," Councilman Sally Mathews argued. "Zelinsky has not come through but maybe he needs time. Control of the front door to Belvedere is of vital importance."

Two Appointed To Safeguard Marin's Water

Two Marin County supervisors were appointed today to work with Carroll A. Snyker, executive vice president of the Marin County Development Assn., in efforts to safeguard county water supply after Snyker had warned of danger from the south.

A letter from Snyker said that Rep. Donald R. Clausen (R-Crescent City) had raised the point that "counties of the Redwood Empire, including Marin, should be girding themselves and preparing plans to protect their water resources" as result of a recent U. S. Supreme Court decision allocating to Arizona a sizable share of Colorado River water heretofore given to Southern California.

"Marin County is well supplied with water now but in 10 years things may be different," said Snyker. "The southern part of the state has been pretty successful in gobbling water supplies so we might wake up to find a problem."

As acting chairman, Supervisor William D. Fusselman appointed Supervisor William A. Gnoss, who represents Marin on the Eel River Flood Control and Water Conservation Assn., and Supervisor George Ludy to work on precautions.

Rights Unit Is Formed In Marin

A Marin County Co-ordinating Council on Human Rights was formed last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Heller, 177 Bret Harte Road, San Rafael.

Thirty-four residents formed the council, which intends to take action in the fields of housing, jobs, school drop-outs and community education on the status of human rights in Marin.

Mrs. Edward Pierce of Corte Madera, acting chairman, is scheduled to call a follow-up meeting next week for chairmen of community organizations invited to affiliate with the council.

The council decided to notify State Senator Luther F. Gibson (D-Vallejo) that the Marin County Board of Supervisors uanimously supports the Rumford Housing Bill. Gibson's committee is "now holding up the bill," the council reported.

Thieves Get $200 From Gas Stations

Thieves used their car as a battering ram to snap the doors of two service stations in Tamalpais Valley and got away with more than $200 in cash last night, sheriff's deputies reported today.

About 5:30 a.m., Deputy Sheriff Boyd Burnham noticed the front door open at Yates Chevron Service Station at 204 Flaming Road at Dolan's Corner. Owner Fred Yates said about $35 in change had vanished from the cash register.

Deputy C. H. Lima then noticed that Art Weiman's Richfield Station at 251 Shoreline Highway had also been entered. A money bag containing $168 was gone from the lubrication room.

In both cases, deputies said the burglar apparently rammed the doors with a car.

Castro Vows Attack On Cuba Exile Bases

MIAMI (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro warned today that his forces will attack any Cuban exile bases set up on British and French islands in the Caribbean.

No Almonte Tax Hike

Almonte Sanitary District directors last night agreed they will be able to maintain the present tax rate of 36 cents per $100 assessed valuation and possibly may reduce it, chairman Robert A. Alexander said today. The board came to no tentative budget figure and continued budget talks to July 22.

Conclave Set At Vatican For New Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican officials completed today the final arrangements for the conclave that will elect the Roman Catholic Church's 262nd pope. The conclave starts tomorrow.

The conclave marshal, Italian Prince Sigismondo Chigi, 68, is married to the former Marianne Berry, a member of a pioneer family of another Rome—Rome, Georgia.

As marshal, Prince Chigi makes sure the one door into the sealed conclave area is locked behind the cardinals and their aides. He stands outside it, keeping all the keys.

Vatican officials decline to say how much the conclave may cost. Italian papers estimated the 1958 conclave cost more than $300,000, with 52 cardinals attending. This time there are 80 cardinals.

In one of the final items of pre-conclave business today, the clergy and laymen who will assist the cardinals during the conclave gathered in the Pauline Chapel. They swore they would maintain secrecy about what happens in the conclave and that they would not try to influence the vote of the cardinals.

They also promised not to bring radio transmitting equipment or cameras into the conclave area, which includes the Sistine Chapel and apartments in adjoining apostolic palaces.

Youth, 16, Slips Down Spillway

A 16-year-old San Rafael youth slid 300 feet down Peters Dam spillway at Kent Lake yesterday afternoon and landed among the boulders but escaped with bruises.

Robert Suttles of 626 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Suttles and a friend, Dallas Morgan, 18, of 45 Harte Avenue, San Rafael, told Sheriff's Sgt. Kenneth Irving that young Suttles had climbed the spillway about 5:45 p.m. to dislodge a log near the top. He lost his footing on slimy algae and slid to the bottom. He lay among the boulders while his friend went for help.

United Ambulance took the boy to the hospital.

Spy Scarbeck Denied High Court Hearing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court yesterday denied a hearing to Irvin C. Scarbeck, 44, sentenced to 30 years in prison for passing secret information to Polish agents while he was a U.S. embassy official in Warsaw.

The brief order leaves standing a decision affirming the conviction handed down Dec. 31 by the U.S. Court of Appeals here. The appeals court suggested, however, that the sentence be reduced to about 10 years because of Scarbeck's cooperation with State Department officials.

Pilot Loses Life, Sailor Loses Feet

HONOLULU (UPI) — A Navy lieutenant was killed and young sailor lost both feet Friday night when a jet fighter plane crashed into the stern of the aircraft carrier Hancock, the Navy announcet today.

The dead man was identified as the pilot, Lt. Donald John Meyer, 28, of San Diego, the injured man was Seaman Apprentice John Mack, 19, of Charleston, S. C.

Ross School To Close Cafeteria Next Fall

Ross School District trustees last night voted 4-0 to close the school cafeteria to create more classroom space and direct more money for instruction.

Supt. Donald D. Leister said the move had been considered for some time, but few persons knew of it. Only person protesting at last night's meeting was A. Crawford Greene Jr., trustee-elect who will join the Board July 1.

Trustee Chester B. Noyes was absent.

Leister said the space can be used for three or four new classrooms and the conversion will begin soon, though the classrooms will probably not be ready in time for classes next fall.

Operation of the cafeteria has cost from $2,000 to $3,000 a year, Leister said. In budget considerations last night the board transferred $1,600 for the cafeteria fund to a building reserve and $400 to noon supervision.

This gives a total $7,100 in the building reserve which will help finance the cafeteria conversion.

The preliminary budget of $280,915 was adopted. Leister said this was about $10,000 above the current budget with most of the increase going toward salary increases.

The board granted special raises to four teachers, who have been with the district several years, beyond a recently adopted salary schedule which ruled out raises unless additional graduate study units had been earned.

Mrs. Dorothy Hardy will receive an extra $435.50 a year; Mrs. Marian Gumz, $423.75; Mrs. Miriam Droge, $412, and Mrs. Norma Bergeron, $401.50. The board delayed acting on Mrs. Bergeron's request for a leave to attend college next year to get added graduate units. Trustees thought the increase might persuade her to reconsider.

Steel Union Grim About New Contract

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald, hinting strongly that five and one-half months of bargaining at the "human relations" level may have proved fruitless, told union leadership today he had no concrete contract proposals from the industry.

At a news conference which followed a joint meeting of the USW's top policy makers, McDonald painted what close observers considered a dismal picture.

He said that after hundreds of meetings with industry representatives "we still have not cleared any decks on economic or non-economic items."

Despite the terse announcement, McDonald insisted he had "not given up hope."

He said he planned to contact management officials immediately and attempt another meeting of the joint human relations committee.

SPACE

change might be due to a maneuver but they had no idea of its purpose.

It was believed that if the 28-year-old Soviet air force pilot should return to earth ahead of schedule the Russians probably would cut short the flight of space woman Valentina Tereshkova, who was still whirling around the earth in an adjoining orbit.

Valentina today began her 30th trip around the world after surpassing the American record of 22 orbits set last month by Maj. Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the two space travelers slept soundly for seven hours during the night. She awoke about 5:50 a.m. (9:50 p.m. Monday EST) and he woke up about 7 a.m.

The cosmonauts spent much of the second day of their space date chatting over a two-way radio hookup and Valentina sang Bykovsky a song. Tracking stations heard it but could not make out the tune.

Valentina displayed unflagging high spirits to television viewers although dark shadows appeared under her eyes. She dozed off Sunday night in an unscheduled nap that startled flight command center officials before they awakened her.

Ad Secretary, Airman Booked On Morals Charge

A 40-year-old advertising agency secretary and a 34-year-old airman were booked in county jail today on sex perversion charges.

The secretary, Dick Dudley, of 6 West Hillside Avenue, San Anselmo, was arrested by San Anselmo police and released on $2,100 bail, to appear Thursday in Marin Municipal Court. A/1c James A. Griffin was picked up later by air police at Hamilton Air Force Base, where he is stationed.

Police Chief Raymond A. Buchignani of San Anselmo said the two were found together early Saturday in a parked car in San Anselmo, after an 18-year-old San Anselmo youth reported Dudley had offered him a ride and then made indecent proposals. No arrest was made then, but complaints were obtained yesterday from the district attorney.

Buchignani said Dudley had a previous conviction in San Francisco of soliciting participation in a lewd act, and failed to register as a convicted pervert when he moved to San Anselmo.

Rabies Clinics Gain Approval

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, today obtained county supervisors' authorization to conduct another series of summer rabies inoculation clinics for Marin's dogs.

She said, however, that she expects a light year for vaccinations and plans are being made for 1,300 dogs at $2 per dog.

As in the past, it is expected that health department personnel will work at extra hire rates together with veterinarians, the latter receiving 50 cents per dog with Marin Veterinary Medical Assn. receiving their fees in a lump sum.

If Federal Aid Is Such A Bargain Why So Costly?

Every once in a while statistics come along to make a Californian wonder what anyone sees in seeking "federal aid."

The most recent figures like this come from Tax Foundation, Inc., of New York. They show that California and 16 others of the 50 United States get less money back in the form of federal grants and aids than they send to Washington.

California isn't the worst off of the 17. For each $1 of federal aid which California received in 1962, we taxpayers had to ante up only $1.14. We sent about 824.1 million dollars to Washington and we got back 724.4 million dollars under various federal programs.

Taxpayers in Delaware, however, were much worse off. For every $1 in federal aid they received, they had to pay $2.12. Texas, Rhode Island and Iowa, paid less than California but still more than they got back. But a dozen other states including New York ($1.52), New Jersey ($1.80), Connecticut ($1.64) and Illinois ($1.34) had to pay more than California for its federal dollar.

We can understand how some taxpayers like the program. Vermonters, for example, pay only 35 cents for each dollar, and taxpayers of Louisiana contribute only 44 cents. South Dakota trades 39 cents for $1 and Wyoming 45 cents.

Our 49th state, Alaska, has it easiest of all—send 19 cents out, $1 comes back; while the 50th, Hawaii, must pay 61 cents. But even these aren't the bargain they seem. Administration costs, matching funds and the like sends even these costs soaring.

A peculiar thing about the whole affair is that the 17 states which pay out more than they get back, have a total representation in the House of 280 congressmen. That's more than 64 per cent of the 435 House membership. So if the congressmen would get together they could put an end to such goings on.

In a rich state like California, we don't balk at carrying our share of costs of less fortunate states. And maybe that 14 cents is a pretty fair amount for us to contribute.

But let's do it on that basis, not on the basis that if we go to Washington for things we need, we'll get them for nothing.

Let's face the fact that every time we accept a federal $1 we contribute an additional 14 cents to someone else. Then let us decide whether we want to run to Congress for every little thing we think we need, or whether we can't better do it ourselves and save that 14 cents.

Taxpayers Can't Phone Branch Libraries Without Paying Toll

When is a public phone not a public phone? Or why pay a toll charge to phone within one community?

This question has been brought to our attention several times lately. It concerns the Marin County library branch in Novato basically, but other communities in the county also are affected.

Complaints have come to us about trying to call the Novato branch of the county library. There is a phone in the library, but it is used for outgoing calls only.

If a person lives in Novato, he may want to call the library to see if it has a certain book. He cannot find the number, so calls information and is told that he must call the main library at the Civic Center.

THIS IS A TOLL charge, so he may or may not call. He must decide whether it is cheaper to pay the toll phone call, or to drive to the library in person to find out for himself whether the branch library has the book or not.

Novato is not the only city or area with this problem. Corte Madera, Kentfield, and Fairfax branch libraries also have phones on which you cannot call into the library. The other 11 branch libraries do not have phones, according to Mrs. Ida Goodrich of the county library.

Mrs. Goodrich said that in the branch libraries, it would be too much work for someone to handle a phone and also check out books. Perhaps the librarians need instruction on answering a phone and asking the person to wait while the other person finished what he was doing.

It is a simple process. The taxpayers who are paying for that phone will find that they then can use what they are paying for.

ANDREW BRETZ attended a convention of various chambers of commerce last weekend. Bretz is the secretary-manager of the Greater Novato Chamber of Commerce and he likes to keep up with all the current trends in the business.

When he returned, he presented your reporter with a souvenir of his trip, a small bottle filled with a clear liquid. The label was one of the most intriguing that I have seen. It reads:

Essence of California's $1,750,000 Water Plan — Pure Feather River Water." It was put out by the Oroville Chamber of Commerce.

AT A RECENT meeting of the Novato Unified School District Board, the item came up about accepting a project on drainage. It was completed and the board had to vote to accept it as finished. It did this without more than a passing notice.

However, Trustee William Kirk must have looked over the installation, because he remarked that he wished someone would sow some wild oats on the cuts to keep them from washing.

I had to think what a difference one generation makes. In my youth, no school trustee had to ask us to sow wild oats on the campus.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Time To Make Convictions Heard

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I share reader Jean Martin's concern (June 11) for the right of the citizen to choose his own social contacts and live in the neighborhood of his choice. I do not share her sense of outrage at Al Bock's excellent column about the Committee on Racial Discrimination.

He said that arguments against fair housing laws are "like saying that laws making murder illegal deprive somebody of the right to dispose altogether of some irksome individuals."

The arguments are alike, but Mrs. Martin is shocked because murder is more extreme than simply forcing Negroes to live in slums. It will seem even more extreme if your upbringing includes together with our common horror of murder a complete acceptance of the assumption that Negroes are inherently inferior beings.

It is almost a truism that one cannot have freedom who is not willing to protect the freedom of others, and yet we continue much of the time to talk, write, and think about freedom as if it were simply a matter of fighting for our own right to do whatever we wish without interference from anyone, especially from the government (which is, of course, not us but somebody else).

We know when we stop to think about it that since human beings aren't perfect we do have to agree to some laws which limit our individual rights for the common good. In the United States we want to keep those laws as unrestrictive of individual rights as possible while insuring "freedom and justice for all."

But when a hundred years of constitutionally declared equal citizenship for the Negro has in fact not brought him close to equal citizenship, at a time in the world's history when colored peoples the world over are gaining their freedom from oppressive white colonialism and looking to the United States for leadership, and yet when many intelligent and otherwise humane white people can continue contentedly to assume that they should have a right to "live in the neighborhoods of their choice" but that the Negro should not have that right, then it is no wonder that many people want to try what more explicit laws can do to push the Negro's opportunity to become indeed an equal citizen . . .

My arguments will not convince Mrs. Martin any more than her's convince me, for after all, this is not a matter of logic but of underlying convictions about humanity. The less fundamental fears and prejudices that some of us have grown up with will give way eventually before the deeper conviction of human brotherhood that most people nowadays share.

But this is a time for those who do share this conviction to make themselves known, and not to be put off by arguments about "my right to choose my neighbors."

Good News For Deaf Children

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Your article on the front page June 12, "Handicapped Facilities May Be Given $80,000," is certainly good news and timely.

The money, which represents the county's share toward the new school for deaf children and improvements at the Marindale School for physically handicapped children, is urgently needed and many of us who are closer to this situation can really appreciate this.

Special bouquets to our County Board of Supervisors for being aware and in favor of this great need, and still more bouquets to the faculty, therapists, volunteers and matrons who work at this great endeavor.

Marindale School for physically handicapped children in Terra Linda is considered among the best on the West Coast and we should all be proud of it.

I also feel that the new school for the deaf should be next to a regular school as this actually is a necessary part of the over-all program. We look forward to these requests being granted.

PEOPLE RUSH TO PAY BILLS

More than 50 residents frantically trying to pay overdue water bills suddenly descended on the City Hall of Miami Springs, Fla.

"I never saw anything like it," one clerk said. "They came dashing in as fast as they could, with the money in their hands."

Officials saw no apparent reason for the sudden arrival of such a large group, until they learned that a road grading machine had accidentally cut a main water line. The residents were unaware of what had happened and attributed the lack of water to their own delinquency in paying bills.

The very fact that these conscience-stricken people made a hurried effort to pay their bills is a hopeful sign in itself. It is tacit evidence that they were aware of their obligations even when they were slow in living up to them.

Encourage the latent goodness that God has instilled in every person and you do far more than help people pay their water bills on time.

"Learn to excel in good works, in order to meet cases of necessity."
(Titus 3:14)

Let me focus attention on what is good in man, O Lord, as well as recognize his failings.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

CIA Gets Security So Tight It Calls Attention To Itself

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Central Intelligence Agency maintains a security system that is so tight it would appear at times to be self-defeating.

The purpose of the system is to keep the CIA out of the public eye, and vice versa. The need for that is understandable.

But in its quest for anonymity, the agency on occasions has gone to such extremes the effect has been to call attention to itself.

Some of these incidents have produced comic overtones, as in the old silent movies where the guy who is tippytoeing around steps on a piece of fly paper.

Most recently, the CIA made itself surreptitiously conspicuous by foiling a Senate page who was trying to deliver a letter from Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho) to the agency director.

Although the senator's office had apprised the agency of the page's mission, he was upon arrival interrogated at length and sent away with the letter undelivered.

I am not informed as to what the guards told the lad. "There ain't nobody here but us penguins, and we're invisible" probably.

The things that I find most intriguing about the CIA's security system is the way its operating expenses are handled. Funds for the agency are concealed somewhere in the massive federal budget, so that only a few persons know how much money it is spending.

I enjoy going through the budget and picking out items that I think might be used to mask a few bucks for the CIA. For instance, there is the Abaca Fiber Program.

ACCORDING TO the budget for fiscal 1964, this program is taking nothing out of the Treasury and is putting $99,000 back in. That certainly looks suspicious. In fact, it's downright unbureaucratic.

My hunch is that there's really no such thing as Abaca Fiber and that the money actually is going to the CIA.

On page 822 of the budget, $408,000 is earmarked for payment of annuities to the widows of lighthouse keepers. That also looks fishy.

Are there really that many widows of lighthouse keepers still around? Or are some of the CIA agents in disguise?

A $680,000 ITEM for the U.S. Naval Academy's laundry service likewise would be a logical place to conceal a CIA appropriation. You can conceal almost anything in a Navy laundry bag.

Other budgetary items that caught my eye ostensibly covered such activities as "brush disposal" and the preservation of ancient Nubian monuments.

Offhand, $9 million seems like an awful lot of money for the government to be spending to get rid of brushes. And, an ancient Nubian monument sounds to me like a perfect hangout for spies.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Corte Madera planning commissioner John Adlard told city councilmen that valuable industrial potential must be protected from residential encroachments. This, he said, is how to get more tax money without more school need.

Mill Valley City Atty. Thomas Nelson was instructed to ask Jean Pierce, former chamber secretary-manager, whether her forthcoming book "Intrigue, Infiltration and Payoffs in Small Communities" referred to Mill Valley—especially, said Mayor Miriam Cummings, with regard to payoffs.

20 YEARS AGO

Marin Planning Technician Mary Gilkey described the Marin Master Recreation Plan before a combined meeting of the Inverness Improvement Assn. and Town Meeting, stress being laid on preservation of Tomales Bay beaches.

D. W. Martens advertised for Marin purchasers of cherries, pears, apples, plums and prunes from the orchard of an elderly friend "ruined by prohibition." Of his own qualifications Martens said "I am quite at home as an orchardist, having lost about $20,000 on my orchard at Sebastopol."

Khrushchev Comes To Showdown On What To Do About UN

WASHINGTON—The United Nations is presenting Premier Khrushchev with a difficult dilemma: the UN is too valuable a forum to desert and, from Moscow's standpoint, too dangerous an agency to keep in being unless it can be put on a Soviet leash.

This is why, three times during the past three years, the Soviet Union has sought to fasten its veto on the functioning of the General Assembly as it already has on the Security Council.

It did so in 1960 when Khrushchev pounded his shoe on his UN desk and demanded that the secretary-general be replaced by a "troika committee" which would enable the Kremlin to prevent the Secretariat from carrying out any decisions of the General Assembly it didn't like. He failed.

IT DID SO at the World Court in 1962 by trying to avert a judgment that special assessments (to cover such items as the peace-keeping activities in the Middle East and in the Congo) were as binding on members as the general budget. It failed.

This is what it is now trying to do in the special session of the General Assembly. Its objective is to impose a financial veto over the General Assembly as effective as its political veto over the Security Council.

It is marshalling all its instruments of pressure and popaganda to intimidate the new and smaller nations, particularly in Asia and Africa. The Soviets want them to believe that, if they vote to uphold the World Court judgment that all UN costs are equally binding on all members, something terrible will happen to them.

FROM THE MANEUVERING behind the scenes at the UN, the evidence is that the smaller nations are not going to yield to Soviet threats and will soon vote to preserve the financial integrity of the United Nations by requiring all members to pay up — or else.

There will apparently be sufficient support for an equitable distribution of UN costs plus an additional voluntary peace-keeping fund to which the wealthier countries may contribute—at their discretion—so that the poorest countries may not have to pay beyond their capacity.

This means that the Soviet Union will almost certainly fail in its third attempt to immobilize the UN or to prevent it from acting except when the Communist bloc delegates say yes.

IF THE VOTE goes as now expected, the Soviet Union will be required to pay its share of all UN costs or take the consequences.

The principal consequence is that by January, 1964, the Soviet Union would be two years behind in its payments and, failing to pay by then, would forfeit its vote in the General Assembly.

What will the Soviets do? They have three alternatives: (1) to accept the overwhelming verdict of the UN and pay up; (2) to remain a hobbled, non-voting member of the General Assembly; (3) to get out.

They could do any one of these three things. They'd hate to pay up, but they'll have to or suffer a prestige loss which would be totally unacceptable.

A few inspired book dedications:

Inez McEwen dedicated her "So This Is Ranching" to "My infant grandson, the only gent on whom I've been able to pin anything."

Mark Hellinger dedicated one of his volumes to the bargain basement of a department store, for designing "underwear that doesn't bind while seated at a typewriter."

Franklin P. Adams inscribed one volume of verse to his "Loving Wife, but for whose constant interruptions, this book would have been finished six months earlier."

You may take with a grain of salt the claim of a St. Paul barber that he has a solution for customers who are losing their hair. He sells them a new tonic containing alum and lemon. He warns them that this doesn't grow hair—but it does shrink their heads, so that the hair they have left fits better!

County Garage Fleet Inspector Approved

More efficient operation of the county garage was promised by Public Works Director Donald R. Frost yesterday as Marin County supervisors consented to his request that a position of garage fleet inspector be created.

This will not increase garage personnel, now authorized at seven, because the new position in a salary range of $580 to $726 a month will replace a presently unfilled position of assistant mechanic.

Garage reorganization will allow better preventive maintenance so fewer breakdowns on the road will occur, according to Frost.

Supervisor George Ludy complained of long waits by county personnel experiencing flat tires or minor engine problems with their cars in West Marin. He said they notify the county garage in San Rafael and sit for hours until a repair truck with two men can come to the rescue.

"It's asinine not to use local garages for minor repair work.

The county supervisors also:

1. Cut $5,750 from the building and plant maintenance fund that was slated for work at the Civic Center. This eliminated construction of a mail drop at the main entrance, $750; placing a red topping on the crosswalk, $2,500 and construction of partitions, $2,500.

2. Approved $11,699 for the flood control division including the position of a fulltime associate engineer for the division.

3. Approved the garbage disposal budget of $34,200 and estimated receipts will exceed expenditures by $9,000 which will go into the land acquisition reserve.

Two Intoxicated Drivers Fined

George Robert Fenick, 52, a caddy, of 830 B Street, San Rafael, paid $166 fine yesterday for drunken driving. Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court also put him on probation for six months. Fenick was arrested on Highway 101 last Thursday.

Nancy Jane Burke, 37, of 325 Bretano Way, Greenbrae, drew $220 fine and one year probation. Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court sentenced her for drunken driving on Ward Street in Larkspur last April 10. Two prior convictions, in 1957 and 1960, which would have made a jail term mandatory, were stricken.

New Private School Gains Use Permit

A new private elementary school, to be established at Forest Farm in Forest Knolls, was approved yesterday by the Marin County Planning Commission.

Harold E. Gregg, director of Forest Farm at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Arroyo Road, told the commission he plans to open a school next fall for 50 youngsters in first through eighth grades. Since 1945 a summer school for boys and girls has been operated at the site.

The new school will occupy existing buildings at Forest Farm Camp.

Conditions of the use permit include the restriction that no mentally retarded child will be allowed to attend the school.

The Marin County Planning Commission also:

1. Approved a tentative map for San Marin Unit No. 6, west of Novato, for subdivision of 36 acres, as revised to include a church site and park.

2. Approved a 13-acre subdivision of Sleepy Hollow Unit No. 10, requested by developer Harold Lang. Principal planner David Van Pelt said terrain will require some grades as steep as 19 per cent.

3. Approved a seven-acre subdivision of Smithridge Estates, southeast of Mount Tiburon subdivision in Tiburon, requested by J. M. Smith.

4. Continued until July 1 the proposed 54-acre Seacape subdivision at Muir Beach. Senior planner Edmund Kagi said developers are completing arrangements for water supply and sewer facilities.

5. Recommended consideration of a proposed storage yard in Novato as commedcial instead of industrial zoning. Louis Garaventa, Novato garbage collector, requested a zoning change from limited agricultural for a five-acre site at Atherton and Armstrong avenues. A hearing on the commercial zoning will be held July 1.

6. Granted architectural supervision for an office building and equipment yard for A. G. Raisch Co. near Harbor Drive and Highway 37, Black Point. Commissioners ordered the planting of trees along the property to screen the yard.

7. Approved rezonings for 54 acres south of Bolinas Road near Fairfax for limited agricultural with one-acre lot sizes. The area is part of the Monte Cristo tract rezoning to be considered by the board of supervisors next Tuesday.

Park Land For Library Gets A Cold Shoulder

A proposal to use park land for a library site evoked no great enthusiasm last night from Mill Valley Parks and Recreation commissioners.

No vote was taken, but in discussion, commissioners Joseph C. Brewster and Mrs. William B. Allen were outright against such a proposal.

Commissioner Jerome C. Hauke said he would favor a library on park land only as a last resort. Commissioner Dean Meyer suggested possible trade of park land for city land not designated for park purposes.

Mrs. Allen reported Old Mill Park could not be used for the library because of deed restrictions, and the legality relating to use of Boyle Park would have to be interpreted by the city attorney.

She said she strongly protests use of park land for a library site, adding that "our planners are agreed we need more, not less, recreation area." The money saved from the tax rate for a site and building fund should be used to buy the site, Mrs. Allen said, and "not some site whose only recommendation is its city ownership."

The commission recommended to city council adoption of a new tree ordinance.

Setback Variance Granted Owner Of Kentfield Site

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday voted 5-1 in favor of a controversial variance that will permit reduced front and back yard setback on a home on the east side of Bridge Road, opposite Hermit Lane in Kentfield.

Richard R. Pelton will be able to build the house with setbacks of five foot instead of 10-foot in the rear and five feet instead of 25-feet in front.

A petition with 42 signatures opposed the setback, another with 20 favored it. Opponents said the reduced setback would be out of character with the neighborhood.

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — "The South shall rise again in 1964" is the rallying cry of 1,000 Southerners backing a move to throw next year's presidential election into the House of Representatives.

The call—as in the unsuccessful 1948 Dixiecrat movement—was 'for' unity as Govs. Ross R. Barnett of Mississippi and George C. Wallace of Alabama thundered defiance of the federal government

Set Up Dummy's Long Suit By Ruffing Out Opponents

Ruffing is the subject of each hand this week.

Today we see an example of setting up dummy's long suit by ruffifng out the high cards held by the opponents.

Opening lead — ♡ Q

The South hand isn't quite worth a jump to four spades on the second round.

ACCURATE BID

Three spades would be a more accurate bid, after which North would probably raise to game. When the hand was actually played, South had a timid partner and decided to risk the overbid.

West opened the queen of hearts, and dummy won with the ace. Declarer cashed the ace of clubs and ruffed a club with the eight of spades.

This was a key play since it left three trump entries in dummy.

LED DEUCE

South led the deuce of spades to dummy's seven and ruffed a club with the jack of spades. Once again, the idea was to keep entries to dummy's trumps.

South continued his plan by leading the nine of spades to dummy's ten. He then ruffed another club, this time with the ace of trumps.

Finally, South led the queen of spades to dummy's king, drawing West's last trump.

IN DUMMY

The lead was now in dummy, and declarer could cash the last two clubs to fulfill the contract.

South's line of play is very simple, but he must execute it with care. Each club ruff must be made with a high trump to make sure of keeping all possible trump entries to dummy.

If South tries to ruff his heart and diamond losers in dummy, the opponents will lead trumps to limit dummy to one ruff.

This defense will hold South to nine tricks.

Corte Madera Tennis Courts Go To Bid

Bids on two tennis courts in the new Corte Madera Town Park were invited last night by the town council, and will be opened July 15.

The Corte Madera Lions Club will underwrite the cost.

The council held tight to town purse strings on other park projects. It looked with disfavor on a park and recreation commission recommendation to spend $2,740 for a paved shuffleboard area and $204 for a specially turfed "block golf" area for putting. But it directed town mgr. Arthur H. Brandow to spend $250 for horse shoe courts, already budgeted.

Referred to budget talks was a proposal to fence the park along Tamalpais Drive.

The council voted $1,000, already budgeted, to improve Lakeside Drive Extension in the Sanford business complex between Tamalpais and Meadowsweet drives.

Consideration of the $481,150 fiscal 1964 budget was set for July 2 and 15.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

1. Appointed senior clerk Nell Rugg to the elective post of town clerk, to fill out the term of Naydeen Tuttle running to next April 13. Mrs. Tuttle resigned effective July 1.

2. Approved a fee schedule of $2 and up plus $1,000 cash deposit for debris filling, plus an annual fee of $5 for inspection under the new grading and drainage ordinance.

3. Accepted a plan by Brandow for five residents to pay $654 of the $2,598 expected cost of improving a portion of Baltimore Avenue and for three residents to deposit with the town all of the $2,864 expected cost of improving a portion of Redwood Avenue.

4. After one-half hour discussion over language, continued until July 2 an ordinance for design review of pole houses.

5. Postponed naming a planning commissioner until July 2.

6. Set for July 2 puolic hearing on annexation of one acre south of McGraw-Hill Book Co., to be occupied by a new headquarters for the State Motor Vehicle Department.

7. On suggestion of Councilman Charles F. Pendleton decided to invite all home owners' groups to meet with the council at 8 p.m. July 15 to help form a disaster committee and obtain an assistant disaster director to serve under Brandow.

8. Introduced an ordinance to limit three parking spaces near the post office to 10 minutes.

9. Approved application of Solon Realty Co. to realign 10 lots on Summit Drive into two home sites of 12,800 and 8,100 square feet, grading to be kept to no more than a 25 per cent incline.

10. Voted $200 for fireworks to be shot off from Neil Cummins School grounds July 4.

11. Referred to Councilmen Pendleton and Robert I. La Dow, as public works committee, a long list of complaints of road conditions from Christmas Tree Hill residents.

12. Rescinded a vote of Jan. 21 permitting added uses in C-4 commercial zones, referring the matter back to the planning commission.

Councilman Norman R. Barnett was absent.

HAFB Race Fight Brings Discipline

A fight between Negro and white airmen at the Airmen's Club at Hamilton Air Force Base on June 2, has resulted in one participant being reduced in rank, it was disclosed today by officials at the base.

The fight started when a Negro airman asked to cut in on a white girl who was dancing. It spread to include 35 to 45 men of both races, Air Force officers said.

McKinley Reynolds, 22, white airman of the 78th Air Police, who lives in barracks on the base, has been reduced from airman second class to airman third class, officials said. He took squadron commander's discipline rather than face a court martial.

The trouble started when a Negro, A/1c Charles Hockaday, 34, of the 78th Air Base Squadron, who also lives in the barracks on the base, tried to cut in on Reynolds' dancing partner.

The fight lasted about 10 minutes before it was broken up, officials said.

Several fight victims were treated for bruises at the base hospital. No weapons were used, only fists, base officials reported.

No restrictions have been placed on the Airmen's Club.

"We are treating it as an ordinary fight, which occasionally happens everywhere," said a statement from the base headquarters.

The incident came to light when Hockaday, fearing charges similar to those against Reynolds, hired a San Francisco attorney to handle his case.

'Creeping Apartments' Draw Hub Opposition

The San Anselmo Planning Commission agreed last night to hold the line on "apartments creeping up Sir Francis Drake Boulevard" at Mountain View Avenue, according to chairman Ronald Hill.

The general policy statement was made after the commission denied the request of Turkan and Peters to rezone property from single-family residential to apartments opposite Ash Avenue.

The commission set for July 15 public hearing on rezoning from apartments to duplexes of two parcels adjacent to the west side of the Turkans and Peters property to "correct the zoning in that area."

Also denied was the request of Leslie Airth to rezone three lots on Ancha Vista Avenue from single-family to apartments, because of the lack of proper access for traffic and the deep penetration into single-family home areas.

The commission set a second public hearing for July 15, on its own initiative, on rezoning from apartments to single-family residential the first three lots on Sequoia Drive opposite Ancha Vista Avenue.

This would correct "existing spot zoning," Hill said.

The San Anselmo Planning Commission also:

1. Granted Alfred F. Colombo rezoning of property on Sycamore Avenue from single-family to apartments.

2. Held over, until another developer submits plans for the area, request of Wilfred A. DeCook to rezone from single-family residential to planned development apartments, property north of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard opposite Madrone Avenue.

3. Approved the final map for subdivision of portions of Lots 108 and 109 on The Alameda near Arroya Avenue.

4. Approved the application of William Davis to subdivide portions of Lots 8 and 9 in the Rosenthal Tract and required that he grade the full 20-foot right-of-way of the street but pave only that portion on his side of the center line.

5. Approved the application of Mrs. Hildred Huyssoon to subdivide Lot 129 on Scenic Avenue near Canyon Road into two building sites.

6. Denied the application of Joseph DePatta to add six apartment units to an existing three-unit structure at 412 Red Hill Avenue.

Acre Zoning Still Allowed In Ross Plans

There was a deluge of phone calls to Ross town officials yesterday by residents who were alarmed by false reports that one-acre zoning was invalidated throughout the city.

Mayor Harry C. Scott said he even got calls at his San Francisco office.

Residents became concerned after erroneous newspaper headlines (not in the Independent-Journal) said a State Supreme Court ruling outlawed one-acre zoning in Ross, he said.

Scott assured residents that the court decision was not all-inclusive, but applied only to the 2.02 acres owned by Miss Margaret E. Hamer at 1125 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The court ruled Thursday that Miss Hamer could not build apartments on the plot, but lifted the one-acre restriction there. When Miss Hamer first asked for apartment zoning in 1949, the minimum lot size in Ross was one acre, but the town has since acquired a new zoning ordinance which places her land in a single-family residential zone with a minimum of 7,500 square feet.

The meeting time for the San Rafael Sanitation District board Thursday has been changed from 12:30 p.m. to 9:30 a.m.

SAN JOSE BOARD HOLDS TAX LINE

A preliminary 1963-64 budget of $1,427,023 which does not call for a tax increase was adopted last night by trustees of San Jose Elementary School District.

This budget is $311,203 more than the $1,105,820 budgeted last year, said Supt. Ralph Giovanniello, but calls for no increase in the district's tax rate. The San Jose District this year levied a total tax rate of $2.89, including 31 cents for bond retirement.

The San Jose School District Board Also:

1. Awarded Worth Fenner of Novato a contract for insurance for the next fiscal year at $2,929.

2. Instructed Superintendent Giovanniello to investigate leasing six or eight portable classrooms.

3. Adopted a policy of one-year internships for administrators, to work under school principals and devote part-time to teaching.

4. Hired Mrs. Anita Googins to teach first grade at Lynwood School; Mrs. Marianne Hansen, second grade at Lynwood; Margo Ann Lordeaux, fifth grade at Loma Verde School; Larry Schwartz, fourth grade at Loma Verde, and Leland C. Livington as psychologist for the district.

5. Granted leave of absence to Deanna Shreeve, fourth grade teacher at Pacheco School, to attend college for one year.

6. Accepted the resignation of Mrs. Carol Baldwin, second grade teacher at Loma Verde School.

7. Granted Harold Bertram a year's leave with pay, to become an exchange teacher in England. The English teacher sent to the United States in exchange will be paid by his home district.

8. Set Aug. 23 to 25 for an in-service workshop.

9. Set for 8 p.m. July 1 the board reorganizational meeting.

CORE Chapter Slates Meeting

The newly formed Marin chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the lounge at Marin City.

Those interested in either active or non-active memberships may attend, according to Douglas Quiett, chapter president. "We need funds to back our work," said Quiett, "and we are glad to accept contributing memberships."

The group will first work toward equal job opportunities for Negroes in Marin.

Schools In Boston Boycotted By Negroes

BOSTON (AP)—Negro leaders termed the boycott of Boston's junior and senior high schools a success today and estimated that 3,000 Negro pupils skipped classes in a protest of alleged segregation.

Negro leaders called for the boycott—which they would not term a boycott—as a rebuttal to what they termed "de facto segregation" in the public schools.

At St. Mark's Social Center, across the street from Boston Technical High School, about 250 junior and senior high school pupils jammed the building. The overflow flooded into the street. Buses took pupils to the other nine "freedom centers" where special classes were held for the Negroes.

Uniformed police maintained vigilance at each of Tech's six entrances.

There are an estimated 5,000 Negroes among the 14,000 pupils in the city's junior and senior high schools.

Negro leaders — some of whom rode in police cars with top police officials — said they expected no violence.

The heart of the protest, said the leaders, is the demand that the Boston school committee publicly admit there is actual segregation in Boston schools. This motion has been rejected 3-2 by the school board.

Protest leaders asked Negro parents to keep their junior and senior high school children out of the public schools today to protest what they called "de facto segregation" or segregation in actuality if not by law.

Seven Get Degrees At Polytechnic

Seven Marin County residents received degrees at commencement exercises of California Polytechnic College at San Luis Obispo Saturday.

Sue Ann Blakely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard E. Blakely of 640 Sausalito Boulevard, Sausalito, received a master of arts degree in mathematics.

Bachelor of science degrees went to Kenneth A. Anderson, son of Mrs. Ruth H. Anderson of 34 Edison Avenue, Corte Madera; Douglas Sarlin, son of Ray Sarlin of 211 Reed Boulevard, Strawberry; Paul V. Atkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Atkins of 185 Bayview Drive, San Rafael; Allan W. Zensius, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Zensius of 308 Corillo Drive, Rafael Meadows, and Michael D. Mirata, son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo P. Mirata of 2305 Paradise Drive, Tiburon.

George Nunes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nunes of 1500 Lucas Valley Road, received a two-year technical certificate for dairy husbandry.

Plea of Harry J. Mack, former executive director of the Marin Cancer Society, to charges of grand theft and forgery in San Mateo County Superior Court was continued until July 2 today by Judge James P. O'Keefe.

Mack is charged with embezzling $4,930 from the San Mateo County Heart Assn., of which he was executive director until he was forced to resign May 14.

Annexations Asked To Sanitary District

Richardson Bay Sanitary District directors heard requests last night for sewage service from two developers, Milland Properties and Alcan Marin Ltd., but took no action pending a growth study to be completed in about three months by district engineer J. Warren Nute.

Both applicants have properties partially in the district. Alcan Marin seeks annexation for 286 proposed apartment units south of Enchanted Knolls, and Milland requests annexation to serve its Harbor Point development of single family residences and apartments, according to Samuel A. Fletcher, secretary.

Theater Proceeds For People-To-People Unit

Proceeds from Friday's performance of Anton Chekhov's "The Cherry Orchard" by the Sausalito Little Theater will be given to the Sausalito People-to-People Committee.

The money, according to publicity chairman Mrs. Glenn Mitchell, will go toward a fund to be used for a teacher exchange between Sausalito and her sister city, Vine Del Mar, Chile.

Distinction Honor

Mary R. Cummings of Kentfield received a B.S. degree in physics with distinction at Sunday's commencement at Stanford University. A list of graduates carried in the Independent-Journal Monday failed to include the distinction honor.

Planners Take Dim View Of All Mountain View Avenues In Marin

There may be many people living in Marin who have a view of a mountain, but they can't all live on a mountain view avenue.

This was the contention of Marin County planning commissioners yesterday in a decision to change the name of a proposed Mountain View Avenue in Muir Woods Park above Mill Valley.

"There is another Mountain View Avenue not far to the west," said staff planner Ross Talley, "and there are more Mountain View avenues in San Rafael, San Anselmo and Lagunitas. There is a Mountain View Road in Fairfax and a Mountain View Drive in Tiburon."

The commission agreed with Mill Valley post office officials that too many Mountain Views exist and decided to at least prevent one more.

The name of the street in Muir Woods Park was changed to Mountain Lane.

Sausalito Unit Asks Views On Budget

The Sausalito Citizens Council is polling its members by postcard, for their views on several aspects of the 1963-64 city budget. Cards were to be mailed to the board of directors today asking for yes and no answers on the following:

Speed up fire main and hydrant program? Improve residential lighting? Mercury vapor lights downtown? Better street cleaning and maintenance; Improve police department standards? Do other things before park development? And give up costly Harrison Park, get cheaper site?

Five In Family Die As Cars Hit

CHICO (AP) — Five members of a Citrus Heights family on their way to Chico to make funeral arrangements for a relative, were killed last night in a head-on collision of two cars south of here, the California Highway Patrol said.

The dead were identified as Norman White, 38, his wife, Betty, 32, and three of their four children.

Their eldest daughter, Marie, 13, was critically hurt. The crash occurred about 14 miles south of Chico on Highway 99E, investigators said.

The driver of the other car, James Roger Smith, 38, of Chico, also was critically injured.

In Artillery

Army Pvt. Harry V. Heim Jr., son of Mrs. Harry V. Heim, 151 Harvard Avenue, Mill Valley, has been assigned to the 12th Artillery at Fort Sill, Okla.

Memorial Services

A memorial service for all members deceased during the year will be held by Mill Valley, Petaluma, San Rafael and Sebastopol Rebekah and Odd Fellows Lodges Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the Odd Fellows Hall, Mill Valley.

Police, Firemen Ask Pay Raises Alone

A pitch for pay raises, which the San Rafael City Council expected to be on behalf of all city employees, turned out last night to be for fire and police department members only.

Attorney William J. Murphy of San Francisco, who had asked for time before the council to present wage proposals, opened his presentation by saying: "I do not represent the employees association this year; I only represent the police and fire department members." Last year, Murphy was retained by the San Rafael Employees' Assn. to speak for all.

His request was for raises of about five per cent, plus liberalized holiday, overtime and sick pay provisions, and an increase in the uniform allowance from $120 to $200 per year.

As Murphy launched into a plea that police be paid for overtime or allowed compensatory time off, Asst. Police Chief Joseph Brusatori spoke up, "We have that now."

Police are allowed to take time off for overtime with all additional being paid off twice yearly in cash, Brusatori explained. He said a bill for about $1,400 on police department overtime in the first half of this calendar year will be presented Friday.

"It looks like I should have talked with the chiefs instead of the Indians," said Murphy ruefully.

The council did not commit itself regarding the pay hikes. At a budget session last week, councilmen agreed to stick with the present pay schedule.

The council, with all five members present, unanimously overrode planning commission turndown to permit Guy Duryea to put a four-lot subdivision in Bret Harte Heights with septic tanks. But in doing so, Mayor John F. McInnis and Councilman Charles W. Aby warned that buyers of the lots should be made aware the county health department may at any time order use of the septic tanks stopped. Approval included a provision that the state real estate commissioner order the subdivider to so warn all potential purchasers.

Attorney Samuel W. Gardiner, appearing for Duryea, proposed that the council set a deadline, perhaps five years hence, beyond which no septic tanks in the area would be allowed. To force Duryea to pay $17,000 to bring in a sewer main is unreasonable, he claimed, when other properties in the same area, subdivided earlier, continue to use septic tanks.

Councilmen objected the effect of the future deadline would be to allow Duryea to escape the heavy cost but saddle it onto the lot buyers.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

1. Awarded A and M Striping Co. of Petaluma the contract for street painting for the next fiscal year at $14,750, up $800 from this year.

2. Left with the public works department for study and recommendation July 1 bids on road materials for next year from four companies: Hutchinson Co., Camgros Gravel and Fuel Co., McPhail's, and Basalt Rock Co.

3. Rezoned the E Street School property from unclassified to commercial.

4. By 3-2 vote, rezoned a lot at Belvedere and Larkspur streets in East San Rafael from commercial-industrial to apartment use. Most of the surrounding property is zoned industrial or commercial-industrial, and Councilman Fred E. Jensen branded the proposal "spot zoning," but he voted with the majority. Mayor McInnis and Councilman Aby were the dissenters. The planning commission had rejected the change.

5. Granted Edgar C. Woods permission for a used car lot adjoining his service station at Second Street and Lincoln Avenue. The planning commission, with only four members present, had split 2-to-2 on this. Aby contended this meant the commission took no action and the matter was not properly before the council, but City Atty. David Menary Jr. held the 2-2 vote constituted planning commission denial which Woods was appealing.

6. Amended the zoning map to provide planned community zoning for land from Racquet Club Drive downhill to lots fronting on Fifth Avenue, requested by Kaehler-Farrar Development Co.

7. Approved expenditure of $2,600 for more drainage pipe in connection with the Third Street widening project.

8. Referred to the traffic committee and city attorney a proposal by Public Works Director Norris Rawles to designate as truck routes Lindaro Street from Second Street to Woodland Avenue, and Lovell Avenue from Irwin Street to Woodland Avenue. Menary said this would require an ordinance amendment.

9. Approved the final map of Rafael Terrace.

10. Authorized City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen to negotiate a lease renewal with E. Bugna Inc. on city-owned property on Francisco Boulevard on the basis of a 60-day cancellation clause. Bugna had sought a five-year option renewal without the clause. Price was left for negotiation also.

11. Held for study a proposed fire zone ordinance amendment designed to clarify application of fire zones to planned community developments. Councilmen Aby and L. H. Bud Baar objected the amendment, as drawn, would free multiple dwellings in planned community developments from the structural requirements applied to apartments elsewhere.

12. Authorized City Clerk W. L. Morgan and City Treasurer Angelina Soldavini to adopt a system of payment by check instead of city warrants — against which checks must later be drawn — if the city attorney finds no charter provision preventing it. Menary said he had found none in preliminary study.

13. Authorized Rawles to make a traffic count on the city side of the Manuel Freitas Parkway-Las Gallinas Avenue intersection in Terra Linda. The county board of supervisors last week authorized a count on the unincorporated side. Rawles objected that the city's position had been misrepresented by the county and the Terra Linda Community Services District. Two years ago, he said, San Rafael put up $4,000 toward a traffic signal at the intersection, but county services district and Dixie School District failed to put up their shares.

14. Instructed City Manager Andersen to tell the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce it can't have a $2,500 city appropriation because the charter limits such appropriation to $1,000. Fred F. Enemark, chamber president, had proposed the additional money be authorized to pay the chamber for specified "expert" services. "They're trying to circumvent the charter," declared City Attorney Menary.

15. Was informed by Menary that the city can legally list with realty firms surplus lots it has for sale, and named Councilman Baar a committee of one to have it done. One realty firm that cannot get the listing: Maynard Redmond Co., by which Baar is employed.

Council Due Plan Appeals In Sausalito

Three appeals from planning commission denials will be heard by the Sausalito City Council at a meeting at 8 p.m. today.

They are an appeal from denial of a use permit to construct 13 shops and four offices at Second and Valley streets made by Marian Frick, an appeal by Heath Land Co. from denial of a use permit to construct a 96-unit apartment development in Marinship, and an appeal from a variance denial requesting permission for Robert Yee to build a restaurant and four apartments at Spring Street and Bridgeway.

Committee reports will be heard on widening of a portion of Bridgeway, Sausalito Properties Inc.'s development, and Cloud View Park.

School Vote Majority Measure Is Gaining

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A voter majority of 60 per cent, rather than two-thirds, would be required to pass local school bonds under a constitutional amendment approved yesterday by the Senate revenue and taxation committee.

The measure by Assemblyman Robert Crown (D-Alameda) has passed the Assembly. If the Senate approves, the people would vote on the proposal next year.

Coins Stolen

Sanford Is Giants' Hope Tonight

Knocked out of first place last night by the Los Angeles Dodgers' Sandy Koufax, the San Francisco Giants pin their hopes on pitcher Jack Sanford (8-5) at Candlestick Park tonight when they attempt to avenge themselves on their hated rivals from the city of angels.

Sanford will be opposed by the Dodgers' Bob Miller (4-3) in the middle game of the three-game series.

Koufax who spun a four-hitter in beating the Giants 2-0 last night, denied that revenge was a factor. "I just have to win," the lefthander explained simply.

But Giant fans could be excused if they think the dark-haired Dodger has something more than victory in mind when he faces San Francisco.

For Koufax has won in brilliant fashion from the Giants twice this year— each time after absorbing a merciless pounding.

Koufax shut out the Giants on four singles last night and knocked the defending National League champions from first place to third, a half game behind St. Louis and two percentage points behind the Dodgers.

The off-and-on string of Koufax began in the first game of the 1962, N. L. playoff when the Giants trimmed him 8-0. In his next start against the Giants—May 11 — he no-hit them 8-0.

Thirteen days later the Giants smashed him from the box with five runs in the first inning and won 7-1. So Koufax followed with Monday's performance.

"There's no question of revenge," he said after his sixth shutout of the season. "I just have to win and they're a club we have to beat.

"No, I wasn't thinking about the last time I pitched against them. I was thinking about the time before when I threw the no-hitter."

Koufax, comparing the four-hitter and no-hitter, thought his stuff was better and his control worse Monday.

"The control came and went. I'd throw three or four bad pitches in a row, then wouldn't have any trouble for a couple of innings," he explained.

Felipe Alou, who'll be benched tonight by Giants Manager Alvin Dark for light hitting, and Orlando Cepeda, who collected two hits off Koufax, didn't see anything wrong with his control.

"And I don't see why he had to throw so fast," Cepeda complained ironically. Joe Amalfatano and Jim Davenport collected the other Giants hits.

A hit, walk and error loaded the bases in the second but Koufax struck out Jose Pagan on a high fast ball to end the rally.

The Dodgers made Billy O'Dell (9-3) the loser when Maury Wills and Jim Gilliam singled to open the second, and Bill Skowron scored both with a double.

"I was afraid of the trading deadline," said Skowron, "but the 15th came and I started to hit. I'd been trying too hard to impress the Dodgers."

The former New York Yankee also drove home a run in a 2-0 Dodger victory Sunday.

MAN AT WORK—Los Angeles Dodger pitcher Sandy Koufax was a study of concentration as he let fly with this pitch in the first inning of last night's game at San Francisco's Candlestick Park. Giants Outsmarted By Wily Koufax

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—There was an unusually active guessing game going on last night between Sandy Koufax and San Francisco's top batters.

The Dodger lefthander, who scored his 10th victory of the year, with a 2-0 shutout, was bombed out by the Giants in the first inning the last time they met. Previous to that, Koufax had pitched a no-hitter against San Francisco.

Koufax said he got Willie Mays on a strikeout once with a slow curve. Later Willie had two strikes on him and was expecting a curve when Koufax whipped over a fast one on the outside corner.

Koufax had no trouble with Willie McCovey, who has been very effective against right-hander Don Drysdale of the Dodgers.

"I didn't throw McCovey anything that he could pull," said Koufax.

Orlando Cepeda got two of the Giants' four hits, and he had the only well-hit ball off Koufax in the eighth—a drive into the left field seats that was foul by about 10 feet.

Koufax said his control was not what he wanted it to be, and he walked four batters.

"It's tough to pitch here when the wind is blowing," Koufax said. "This was the first time I had given more than two walks in a game.

Ernie Broglio Hurls Cards Into First

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ernie Broglio pitched a five-hitter for his eighth win last night as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the New York Mets 8-1 and the Redbirds moved into first place in the National League standings.

The Cards lead the Dodgers, who defeated San Francisco, 2-0, by a half game and hold a similar edge over the Giants who are in third place on percentages.

The Cards concentrated their attack against the Mets in the first four innings with Bill White homering, Curt Flood contributing two doubles and Ken Boyer chipping in three straight singles.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Philadelphia Phillies downed Cincinnati 4-2 with Roy Sievers clouting a three-run homer and the Pittsburgh Pirates laced the Milwaukee Braves 9-3 as rookie Willie Stargell hit two homers and drove in six runs. Bob Bailey also homered for the winners while Hank Aaron hit his 19th of the season for the Braves.

In the American League, Jack Kralick pitched a five-hitter as the Cleveland Indians edged out the Washington Senators 1-0, and Baltimore whipped Boston 7-2 behind the strong pitching of Mike McCormick.

Softball Game

Mill Valley's Old Mill softball team travels to Novato tomorrow night to play that city's Pozzi team. The game will begin at 6:30 p.m. on the Novato High School diamond.

The BULLPEN

With JOHN J. CONNOLLY

Sandy Koufax, Master Mechanic And With All The Tools He Needs

CONNOLLY

Too much and not enough—that tells the story of last night's ball game. Too much of dodger southpaw Sandy Koufax — not enough of Giant batting strength.

Koufax threw the power switch when he tossed a four-hitter, 2-0 victory and his second shutout of the year against San Francisco.

Billy O'Dell, allowing nine hits, never pitched with the intensity of Sandy who, like a master butcher, sliced the fat off every ball he pitched. He didn't have to frighten any hitter, but fooled 'em all.

The score doesn't even commence to tell the differnce between the two clubs last night. It was lopsided instead of close and 36,000 fans sat close-mouthed all evening, so convinced were they of the helplessness of the powerless "Midgets" from Candlestick Park.

When a club loses to Sandy Koufax, they lose to a master pitching mechanic. Sandy was that and more, if possible. Whenever he got two strikes on a batter, that fellow was "dead" for that time at bat. He did it nine times during the evening, fooling the best and the worst hitters, if there is any difference right now among Giant batters. He made a chump out of Mays, not once, but twice. The same twist took place with home run hitting Ed Bailey and Jimmy Davenport, both of whom hit the air twice in four times at bat.

ON THE OTHER hand Billy O'Dell with nine pitching jewels to his credit, looked anything but impressive. He didn't pitch with the earnestness nor the apparent desire to win, as did Sandy.

The visible effort extended by O'Dell and Koufax was preponderently in favor of Sandy, who was like an ant on the mound.

To watch Koufax in form and at his best is a baseball treat —no fluffs, no frills, no beanballs, but just a series of pitches, including one known as the slider that completely baffled the Giants. Not many pitchers, right or lefthanded, can subdue the Giants with such ease and poise as Sandy displayed last night.

One hit by Bill Skowron, Dodger first sacker with a clumsy fielding attempt, gave the Dodgers their runs in the third inning. Maury Wills opened with a single and Gilliam did likewise. Fairly forced Gilliam and Wills went on to third. Tommy Davis flied to short center and it looked like O'Dell might get out of his trouble. Skowron, however, hit to right centerfield and while Willie Mays and Felipe Alou player Alfonse and Gaston, the ball rolled to the fence and Wills scored and so did Fairly, coming all the way from first base. A kind hearted official scorer gave the batter a two base hit instead of a single and error. Neither team scored after that.

IT MAY NOT be that Willie Mays is "through" but his bat is playing a doleful tune and you can get a lot of bets he isn't going to hit .300 this year. I wouldn't bet a nickel on that, however. But the bets can be had without too much searching.

Tonight another knock-'em-down-and-drag-'em-out affair is billed with the three game windup being slated tomorrow afternoon with Don Drysdale and Juan Marichal slated to be the starting pitchers.

There doesn't seem to be anything, anyone can say or do about the hitless Giants. They're either thinking left-handed as usual, or they are not thinking at all. There isn't a single regular who is hitting .300 or better.

The big guns like Mays, McCovey, Bailey and Alou are strangely silent. The aggregation, with the exception of McCovey, doesn't seem to be visibly shaken by the long dry spell of base hits. Which is funnier than it looks or sounds.

A Report That Will Surprise No One: Candlestick Windy

STANFORD (AP) — Scientists are finding out what National League baseball players have long known—those wild winds at the San Francisco Giants' Candlestick Park.

A Palo Alto firm studying the wind problem reported to a group of meteorologists it hasn't yet learned whether there's an answer.

"Except for the more or less steady flow from left to right field, the wind is gusty and chaotic without any apparent organized flow pattern," Metronics Associates of Palo Alto announced — to the surprise of no one.

TO NEWSMEN

W. A. Perkins explained to newsmen at the annual meeting of the Pacific Division, American Assn., for the Advancement of Science, that he was presenting only a progress report.

Wind tunnel studies on a scale model of the stadium and adjacent Bay View Hill are under way at Colorado State University's Fluid Dynamics and Diffusion Laboratory, Fort Collins, he said. They won't be completed until the end of July.

Field measurements taken last season, Perkins noted, showed that the main air flow across the hill-stadium complex "is remarkably uniform in direction." But trouble starts when it divides into two streams on the west side of the hill, one entering the stadium through the left field opening just north of the upper stands, the other reaching the field between the stands and home plate, flowing toward the outfield

'ONLY RARELY'

Normally only one of the flow patterns predominates during a given afternoon, Perkins said. "Only rarely are both observed within a single hour."

Extending the upper left field stands even completely around to the right field stands does not appear a satisfactory solution, he reported in a paper delivered at a meeting of the participating American Meteorologists Society.

"While there are marked changes in the flow patterns in each case, the velocities are not materially reduced in critical areas within the stadium," Perkins said.

OTHER CHANGES

The potential effectiveness of the numerous other suggested changes should emerge from the investigation, he said.

The San Francisco Board of Supervisors voted $55,000 last year for the study. Winds at the new bayside stadium have blown pitchers off the mound and disrupted play a number of times.

NOVATO MAN SHINES AT KEGFEST

STOCKTON (AP) — Bill Young of Novato rolled a 300 game in the State Bowling Tournament Sunday, the third in this event, but only the fifth in the 18 years the meet has been held.

Other 300 rollers this year have been Ed Shuler of Danville and Roy Dunn of Riverside.

Young rolled his perfect game in doubles but he and his partner, James MacMartin of San Jose, had only a 1,258 handicap total, well down the list.

The tournament continues into July.

Las Gallinas Women Hold Tournament

The Las Gallinas Women's Golf Club held a "Three Little Pigs" tournament on the Las Gallinas course yesterday with Mrs. Frank Martin winning the Class A competition with a 21-10-11.

The Class B winner was Mrs. Tom Richardson at 22-13-9.

869 Series Tops At Nave

Gary Johnson paced Nave Lanes bowlers last week with a four-game 869 series rolled in the Marin Masters League. This league also had the top game of the week, a 247 bowled by Bob Curtin. Bill Deyl shot a 235 in the Mixed-up Doubles League.

Mary Ann Brendel led the women with her 538-200 in B.B.B.'s league. Sharon Miller with 520 and Loreda Boulware with 517 were not far behind. High game among the girls was Madelynne Hovanec's 216, which barely edged a 215 game rolled by Pearce Hazen.

Gene Helbing just nipped Curt Rutter's bid to lead the Adult-Junior League for the second week in a row. Helbing's 578-210 topped Rutter's 568-205.

Sixty bowlers will vie Saturday and Sunday at 12:30 p.m. for nine places in the Gold Coast Tournament at Sacramento.

Study Planned For Water Resources

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Does California want full development of all of its water resources for the maximum amount of new water and power development, regardless of harm done to fish and wildlife?

Does the state wish to protect its fish and wildlife, even if it means halting most water development projects?

Or does the state want some sort of well coordinated combination of the two approaches —an orderly water development, designed to produce the most benefits but also designed to offer fullest protection and enhancement to fish and wildlife?

Except for a few special interests on one side or the other, the answer is obviously the third approach. But the California water commission is one state agency that has warned that, if this is the desire, it's going to cost some money.

The commission is proposing a full-scale, statewide investigation of all the water resources not developed. The study would be somewhat on the order of the study that led to development of the so-called California water plan.

The CWP presents a program of water development designed to assure the fullest development of all sources, with none competing against each other. The fish and wildlife study presumably would follow the same pattern and could come up with findings on what stream flows would be required in development of any streams, how construction of reservoirs would help or harm resources, etc.

It's not difficult to see this would cost money. It's also not difficult to see that it would have to be a broadly-based study, with representatives of fish and game, water resources, irrigation districts, power companies, sportsmen, landowners, cattlemen, forest service and others in a proper balance.

The results of such a study would be of little avail if they were slantd toward any particular interest and would cause nothing more than the same type of controversy as if there had been no study.

What the study might be able to produce would be some generally accepted information that Stream X would require a certain minimum flow and that reservoirs on the stream might be most ideally located at Sites Y and Z, but should not be located at Site W.

This would give a project developer some idea of what he might be up against, should he decide to move in to develop a certain stream.

The study probably would tak 10 years. This seems a long time but, a study after 10 years would be better than the present state of confusion merely prolonged for 10 years.

STUDIES

The department of fish and game—the main agency looking out for preservation of fish and wildlife—often is charged now with not making studies or evaluations on streams or lakes until a developer actually is ready to go in and go to work.

The department admits this often is true as it does not have sufficient funds to study every source of water in the state. As it works out, the department does well to keep up with actual planned developments, in a sort of operation of putting out spot fires as they develop.

The water commission, as a beginning, has recommended a state senate committee spend a year or two outlining and planning just what the scope of such a statewide study should be. There would seem to be no time like the present.

NEW ROD AND GUN CLUB MEMBER

President Albert Ferrari of the Marin Rod and Gun Club (right) greets new member Frank Bertch of San Rafael. Ferrari showed Bertch the many plaques and trophies which have been awarded to the club over the years.

Emil Bianco To Be Honored At Dinner

Duck hunters from Marin County and other parts of Northern California will be at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael Friday night to honor Emil Bianco who has played a major role in the Ducks Unlimited committee of the Marin Rod and Gun Club for more than 20 years.

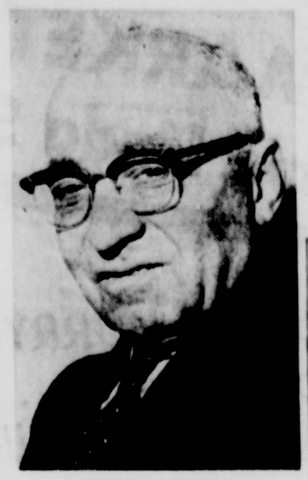

Bianco, who now lives in Lower Lake, Lake County, will be honored at a testimonial dinner given by the committee. It will start at 7:30 p.m.

Before moving to Lower Lake a short time ago, Bianco made his home in Marin County. He had lived here since 1908 and was the owner of Bianco's Garage before retiring in 1956.

Every year at fund-raising time for the Ducks Unlimited, Bianco's interest would turn to the promotion of prizes for the annual drawing, selling a large number of tickets himself.

Last year Ducks Unlimited sent approximately $700,000 to Canada to pay for the creation and maintenance of thousands of acres of duck breeding grounds.

After Bianco's retirement, his huge business at Fourth and E streets changed its name from Bianco's Garage to Bianco Motors.

EMIL BIANCO
To Be Honored

Also at the dinner, persons will hear a talk by one of the officials of the Ducks Unlimited organization. Conditions in the Canadian breeding grounds and the outlook for the coming season will be discussed.

A movie entitled "Wings Across the Border" will be shown. Tickets are priced at $5, with proceeds going to the Ducks Unlimited Committee.

Tickets can be purchased at Western Sport Shop, West End Market and Bret Harte Super Market, all in San Rafael; Jim's Sport Shop in Novato, and Verney's Hardware in Mill Valley.

The big Marin Rod and Gun Club event coming up is our annual picnic on Sunday, July 28. Due to space limitations, a number of people were disappointed last year in trying to get tickets at the last minute. Don't let it happen to you this year. Protect your interests and secure your tickets as early as possible. A word to the wise is sufficient.

NEWS BRIEFS: Lucky winners of attendance awards at last month's meeting were: Ed Schacht, Fritz Johansen, Charles May, Frank Swift and Betty Conti. The card numbers of Alex Carter and Fred Sallom were drawn for those two giant bait box awards but, unfortunately, both men were absent so the awards will carry over to the June meeting.

The California Wildlife Federation will hold its next meeting on June 28 and 30 at the Sacramento Inn in Sacramento. Dr. Gail Adams will attend in his capacity of director of the Sportsmen's Council of the Redwood Empire. MRGC will send a representative to this important session.

The following new members were welcomed into the club at the May meeting: Alvin Bianchini, Frank Bertch, James Hawkins, Edward Muegge, John Steel, Roberto Vanucci, Robert Warner, Fred Williams and George Wuestefeld . . . Thought for the day: Every good sportsman should belong to a sportsmen's organization. Join the Marin Rod and Gun Club.

Fisherman-of-the-Month honors go to Paul Davisson for his 13-pound striper taken at the pier on May 15 . . . In recognition of their outstanding wildlife conservation program, Hamilton AFB received a second-place award in a command-wide fish and wildlife conservation competition.

There are nine salmon winners to date in the Schenley awards program. Top fish so far is a 42-pounder taken near the Farallon Islands on May 25 . . . Last reminder: Under Article V, Section 7 of the club's By-Laws, any member delinquent in payment of dues as of June 30 will automatically be dropped from the membership rolls.

Marin Rifle Club To Face Richmond

The Marin Rod and Gun Junior Rifle Club, fresh from its first place finish in the Northern California Regional Match May 19, will face the Richmond Junior Rifle Club at Richmond July 13.

At the Regional Match at Sharp Park, individual titles were won by Skip Gosser in the Master class 50-yard classified prone division, and by Mike Pickett in the Sharpshooter class 50-yard sitting division. Sherry Tuttle took second in the Expert class prone division. In total scoring, Gosser won second in his class and Miss Tuttle placed fourth in hers.

Instructor George Finney intends to start the National Rifle Assn. Hunter Safety Course at the Santa Venetia Armory later this month. The course, covering ten weeks of class work and actual firing, is open to both boys and girls of ages 12 to 18.

Rod, Gun Club Picnic Slated

The annual picnic of the Marin Rod and Gun Club is scheduled for Sunday, July 28, at the club grounds, Point San Quentin. It will include a barbecue, door prizes, games, races, and special events.

Blue Rockfish Tagged Along Central Coast

Recent news releases from the Department of Fish and Game contain several items of interest to Northern California fishermen.

Ocean anglers along the central coast are asked to be on the lookout for tagged blue rockfish. DFG marine biologists have just tagged 8,000 of these species using a yellow plastic tube attached to the back of the fish near the dorsal fin. A commendation card or a one-dollar bill reward will be sent to persons returning either a tag or a fish with the tag intact to Department of Fish and Game, Marine Resources Operations Laboratory, 411 Burgess Drive, Menlo Park.

Half a million fingerling king salmon were to be stocked in the Russian River, about two miles north of Ukiah. This will bring to 2½ million the number of fingerlings stocked since 1956 in an effort to build up a sizeable run of king salmon in the Russian. Three lakes in the San Francisco Bay area recently got "booster" plantings of largemouth bass to enhance future fishing.

Nicasio Lake received 50,000, Adobe Creek Reservoir in Lake County got 10,000 and Cull Canyon Reservoir received 5,000. Nicasio got its initial stocking of fingerling largemouth bass a year ago.

DFG pollution bioanalysts and wardens are patrolling San Francisco Bay by land, by boat and by air in an effort to determine the cause of a recent series of fish kills within the Bay.

Two 49ers Sign For '63 Season

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers announced today running back J. D. Smith and flanker Jim Johnson have signed their contracts for the 1963 season.

Terms were not announced.

Smith was picked up by the 49ers from the Chicago Bears in 1956 where he had played half a season as a defensive halfback.

Since 1959, when he gained more than 1,000 yards rushing, Smith has been one of the leading ball carriers in the National Football League.

Johnson, out of UCLA and the brother of Negro decathlon star, Rafer Johnson, had shoulder and knee ailments last season but still caught 34 passes for 627 yards with an average of 18.4 yards per reception.

Drag Winner

Hector Davalos of 74 Yolanda Drive, San Anselmo, took first place in his stock sports car class at the Fremont Drag Strip Sunday. Davalos gunned his Porsche engine to a speed of 74.87 miles per hour in 17.92 seconds to win Marin County's only first place at the state-wide meet.

Unit Summer Tryouts Are Set June 24

The second annual summer workshop, sponsored by the North Marin Unit of Junior Theater, will begin with tryouts on June 24 at Marinwood Hall, Mrs. Henry Pierce, president, announced.

"The Knave of Hearts" is the play slated for production, and will be directed by Mrs. L. S. Gaustad. Tryouts will be held from 9:30 a.m. until noon, on June 24. Marinwood Hall is in the Mary E. Silveira School, and all children, in the North Marin area, currently enrolled in grades third through eighth, are invited to try out.

Following the initial meeting, the workshop will run for six consecutive weeks, with rehearsals scheduled Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings at Marinwood Hall. "The Knave of Hearts" will be produced on Aug. 2 and 3.

Along with a desire to participate in a play, an eligible child must have a mother willing to devote a mnimum of six hours of work during some phase of the production.

The North Marin Unit is the newest member of Marin County Junior Theatre, and last year produced "The Clown Who Ran Away" as a result of its first workshop. More than 40 North Marin children participated, with Mrs. Gaustad serving as director.

MRS. BING CROSBY (Kathy Grant) wears Jean Louis' yellow satin evening coat, which was one of the costumes she modeled at a special preview showing of the California designer's new fall 1963 collection in New York. Fur Trim Great Roar Of Fashion Fall Collections

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—It is not the be-kind-to-animals season on Seventh Avenue if they're the fur-bearing variety.

Fur trim is the great roar of fashion in the new fall and winter collections which manufacturers for the last three weeks have been showing the nation's store buyers. The new clothes will begin to arrive in retail stores in late July.

The designers in this the number one garment center of the nation always have been in love with fur for trimmings and linings. For the new season, the love affair has grown torrid. Fox, lynx, leopard, opossum, persian, seal, jaguar, chinchilla, ermine and of course mink abound as trims and linings. Many are the new treatments for the furs.

Several designers showed sleeveless mink blouses in the various beige and brown mutations with tweed suits. The long-haired furs such as fox and lynx go into hoods or as borders on the jackets of both tweed daytime suits and dressier cocktail suits in velvet.

DESIGNER Pauline Trigere dressed her collection in a variety of furs. A black sheath of a cocktail dress, short length, had a six-inch border of white ermine tails at the hem. Ermine tails lined the stole which went with the dress.

A dress-coat costume for evening in white satin came with the flared coat lined completely in black mink. Opossum was dyed in a plum color to produce a bulky jacket for a sleek late day wool dress in the same plum shade. The plum was repeated in the border of jersey stole topping a slim-cut jersey dress.

A SNOW leopard cape, in its unevenly spotted white and beige tones, covered a floor length wool dinner dress. Miss Trigere put a sleeveless white mink set over a sleek black crepe formal.

And the topper of them all was her use of Mongolian lamb, a shaggy, long-hair in white. It is considered a fur rather than a fiber, because the lamb's skin goes along with the outer coat.

MISS TRIGERE produced it in a floor-length stole measuring at least five yards in length, worn over a sleek black satin formal. It went into a cape, shown with black satin formal also.

Not all the furry look is genuine.

Throughout the collections also are the fakes—made of synthetics, to ape every animal coat from seal to cheetah.

Last week's shows for the buyers rounded out most of the fall openings by trend-setting designers. Still ahead, however, are shows by Norman Norell, one of the most influential designers in American fashion, and James Galanos, a Californian also copied copiously by other firms.

THE COLLECTIONS indicated no major change in silhouette for fall and winter—everything's coming up slim of shape, rarely cinched in at the waist, but rather skimming over the figure. This silhouette predominates for both day and evening. Hemlines on day clothes remain right at the kneecap.

One other major trend, other than the fur sweep, lies in the at-home clothes. Nearly every leading designer included at-home outfits in the collection. These are not clothes for doing dishes or feeding the baby, but meant to glamorize. Most likely customers: the woman who has nothing to do at the end of a day but relax and look elegant either for the family or for family and guests.

ALMOST all the at-home clothes are floor length, come in fabulous velvets and crepes, brocades and metallics.

Bridal Decor A Highlight Of Party At Klopstock Home

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

A bridal motif was carried out in decorations for the cocktail party Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Klopstock Jr. of Ross and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pickett of Pebble Beach gave for about 80 guests Saturday at the Klopstock home. Honored were Miss Marla Henemway of Petaluma, niece of the hostesses and Joseph G. Lewis III of Santa Roesa, nephew of Mrs. Pickett and Mrs. Klopstock. The Henemway-Lewis nuptials will take place in June.

Also honored were Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Schroeder (Diane Lewis) who were married in Sacramento in June and are living in Dixon. Adding to the gaiety was the presence of the Klopstocks' daughter, Lynn Klopstock, a recent graduate of Mt. St. Gertrude Academy in Boulder, Colo., who has enrolled in Clark College in Dubuque, Iowa. White flowers were combined with wedding bells in the decor for the party.

MRS. JOHN AYLWIN of Greenbrae flew to New York and is visiting friends there and in Connecticut. While in New York Madge Aylwin had luncheon with a Greenbrae neighbor, Ken Rossi, and reported on activities at the Adaline Kent School where both had sons in the graduating class last week.

Madge will fly to Montreal to visit relatives, including her father, Fred Blanchard, who has vivid memories of the Bay Area—back in 1906. He was living in Mill Valley at the time and was an engineering student at Cal in Berkeley. He tells of taking the last ferry to San Francisco from Berkeley and seeing the while city in flames. The Blanchards will be moving back to Marin County this summer. Fred Blanchard has asked if Mill Valley still gets a "touch" of summer fog.

Madge will return in time to supervise her family's move. The Aylwins will be leaving Greenbrae the end of June to reside in Ross.

Dr. and Mrs. William Pemberton of Mill Valley had had as their houseguest, Carmen Huici of Spain. Carmen is the sister of Amparo Huici, who lived with the Pembertons when she was a student at Tamalpais High School under the American Field Service program.

The girls are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Huici of Madrid, with whom the Pembertons' daughter, Susan, lived while she was a student at the University of Madrid.

Carmen, who has been a student under the American Field Service this year in Middleton, Wis., arrived in time for Laurie Pemberton's graduation from Tamalpais High School. Carmen left today to fly back to Middleton before going on to Washington, D.C. and then home.

MRS. ROBERT SCARBOROUGH has returned to Sausalito from a tour of Europe.

She left April 25 making the Polar flight to London, where she joined a group going to Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Germany, Switzerland, Austria, Italy and France.

Also a member of the tour party was Mrs. Edith Truesdell of Mill Valley. She stayed in Europe to take another tour of Scotland and northern England and visit relatives. She expects to return about July 15.

After the tour Mrs. Scarborough returned to London for a week. She went to the theater every night, and on the last night saw the royal ballet at the Opera House.

Mrs. Scarborough, who does oil painting and graphics, said she was particularly fascinated with an exhibit of modern British painting at the Tate and White Chapel Galleries in London.

Other high points of her trip, Mrs. Scarborough said, were the mountain trips through the Alps and Pyrenees and visiting the medieval city of Carcassonne in France.

Interesting Summer Trips For Novato And San Jose Teachers

By DOROTHY NEWELL

Several interesting trips are planned by teachers in the Novato Unified School District and San Jose Schol District during the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lester and their daughter, Pamela, plan a trip to Hawaii and the entire family will attend college during the summer months. Lester is health and education teacher and dean of the sophomore class at San Rafael High School. Mrs. Lester teaches typing I at Novato High Scshool, and Pamela attends College of Marin.

The family plans to attend classes in the morning hours, and enjoy the sun in the afternoons. Mrs. Lester and Pamela hope to get in a lot of swimming and Lester plans to spend his afternoons at his favorite sport, golfing.

WHILE the Lesters are in Hawaii, the new principal at Novato High School, Gerald Ellyson and his family, will be living in the Lester home.

Miss Rosemary Barker and Miss Jan Hunninghaus of Tiburon, teachers at Novato High School, left Friday, for Europe. Flying the Icelandic route, they will land in Luxemburg.

THEY WILL purchase a car in Europe and tour the area, camping wherever possible.

"We'll be wearing our hiking boots and taking along our bed rolls," Miss Barker said. Places they hope to visit are Stuttgart, Heidelberg, Strasbourg, Alsace-Lorraine, Belgium and France. In the British Isles, they will visit friends of Miss Hunninghaus, who spent 14 months in England as an exchange teacher. They will return to Marin County on Aug. 23.

GETTING new ideas on kindergarten teaching will be Miss Kathy Sternberg, a teacher at Pacheco School, who will be leaving for England and Germany. She is formerly from Cologne, where she received her education. She graduated from San Francisco State College in 1950 and is a kindergarten teacher in the San Jose School District. Miss Sternberg will be studying kindergarten programs in both public and private schools with the national Froebel Foundation in London and the Pestalozzi-Froebel Verban in Bremen. Froebel founded the word "kindergarten," Miss Sternberg said.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Stork hovering over your house? Quite frequently lady stork watchers buy maternity clothes that are too large. If you buy the size you normally wear, you'll find today's attractive maternity clothes are well-designed to take care of your growing needs.

•

Buy words for baby clothes. It's a sensible idea to assemble baby's layette gradually over your "mother-to-be" period. In this way you distribute the cost and your purse strings take less of a tugging at one time.

•

Formula for baby's formula. At some point you and your doctor will decide whether your baby will be breast-fed or bottle-fed. If bottle-feeding is your choice you may want to ask your doctor about Modilac™ . . . the Gerber Baby Formula. This special milk formula, which really looks and tastes like milk, is adapted to your baby's needs and provides nourishment comparable to mother's milk.

Modilac is a complete formula. No sugar or syrup to measure or mix. No vitamin supplement needed. Just combine the amount of Modilac and boiled water your doctor specifies.

•

New mother notation. If you look upon rules as reasonable guides, not rigid "musts," and trust your most reliable mother instincts you'll fare beautifully. You'll be a good mother because this is your beloved baby.

•

Mediterranean Look Latest In Furniture

Furniture shown at the Merchandise Mart and the American Furniture Mart at the show running through Saturday will be available to retailers in the fall.

DESIGNERS have borrowed heavily from architecture. Gothic, Romanesque, and St. George arches abound on a great number of chests and cabinets, complemented by molded columns of Greek and Roman design.

The massive look of the first wave of Mediterranean and Spanish groupings that prevailed several markets ago continues, but pieces are scaled down for the modern home and apartment.

This year's Mediterranean is a mixture of the rugged, carved effects and designs of Spain, the classic architecture of Greece, and Italian and Oriental design ideas.

THE MEDITERRANEAN influence can be identified in pieces with wrought iron accents, used for the base of occasional tables or on chairs and sofas for interesting contrast to woods and fabrics. It is also seen on lamps and decorative accessories for accent.

Woods are finished in warm medium tones, with the soft aged and mellow patina. Stipled or distressed effects have an antiquated look. Soft colors and Old World shades of gold, terra cotta, dull blue and green are used, as well as the old favorite, antiqued white.

Deep, rugged block front carving on doors and drawers is reminiscent of old Spanish pieces. Wood panels are used with fabric insets on arms, while silk fabrics combined with crewel type embroidery and cane panel arm insets offer greater distinction.

ONCE AGAIN, the Mediterranean splash of color predominates in hot reds, deep-water blues and greens, strong citrus yellow played against dull olives and shadowy shades in solids or patterns for furniture, floors and walls. Gold and gilded tipping is often used to outline or highlight carved details.

Designers are making use of storage space in enclosed or semi-enclosed cabinets and chests. Low cabinets are proportioned to be used as end tables or nightstands, and are fitted with doors or drawers. Long, low cabinets fit beneath a window or in a hall.

THE POPULAR modular wall units, providing room for everything from a television set to vases, climb the walls and offset the flatness of modern decor.

Kids On Trips

CHICAGO (UPI) — On long vacation trips with the children stop at least every two hours and let the children run a minute or two, the American Academy of Pediatrics suggests. The academy also nixed the idea of trying to make an easy "500 miles a day" during an auto trip with children. "Three hundred to 350 miles a day is sufficient," the academy explained.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Some Things Can Be Done For Bald Persons—Might Try Buying A Wig

VAN DELLEN

Miscroscope studies of the scalp hairs show that growth waxes and wanes. According to Dr. Albert Kligman of Philadelphia, the hair grows for four or five years and then rests for a short time. A new hair sprouts out and the cycle is repeated. He estimates that 10 per cent of the scalp hairs are resting and 10 to 50 fall out daily as a normal occurence.

The dermatologist can tell whether a hair is healthy by plucking out a strand and looking at it under a microscope. In alopecia areata, the loosely inserted hairs have shriveled, deformed roots. When a biopsy of the scalp is made and the tissue sent to the laboratory, the follicles are found to be dwarfed and shrunken. Tests of this type may help to determine whether the process is irreversible or whether local treatment would be of value.

THERE ARE TWO main problems associated with hair: some have too much and some too little. It is easy to get rid of an excess; too little poses a problem but its not beyond hope.

Plastic surgeons are able to transplant hair areas of scalp into bald spots and, in time, normal tufts of hair grow out. Wigs are helpful, especially for the bald female. They are here to stay and are better than most people can raise on their own.

LOSS OF HAIR makes some persons so unhappy or neurotic they are willing to spend a fortune trying to get it back. This is unfortunate, especially when the numbers of hairs lost is not noticeable to others. Dr. Kligman estimates that a person can lose 40 to 50 per cent of the scalp hair without an obvious cosmetic defect.

On the other hand, more and more women are beginning to develop a pattern of baldness analogous to common male baldness. It begins slowly and usually is confined to the crown of the scalp, rarely ending in a shining dome. This type of baldness is blamed on everything from waving agents to excessive masculinity but generally hereditary. Keep out of the hands of charletans, ladies—remember those wigs.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

CONVULSIONS AND STUBBORNNESS

L. T. writes; My 3-year-old son has had three convulsions when his fever was high. Does this affect the brain in any way? My son has become extremely stubborn, whereas my daughter is not.

REPLY

Not as a rule. The exception occurs when fever is caused by encephalitis and the convulsion is a single manifestation of the brain disorder.

MANHANDLING PIMPLES

E. B. writes: My 21-year-old son squeezes his pimples so hard I'm afraid He is damaging his face. Won't this practice cause tumors?

REPLY

No, but it may lead to scars, deeper infections, or to prolongation of his acne. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on acne.

STREP TONSILS

Mrs. G. S. writes: Will the removal of diseased tonsils help prevent further attacks of rheumatic fever?

REPLY

Yes, when the tonsils are diseased and harbor the causative streptococci.

Most Of U.S. Economy Seems In Good Shape

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—It will take more than a slowdown in steel production to cool the enthusiasm of most businessmen and government economists for the prospects of the economy the rest of the year.

Steel orders and output have dropped after weeks of rising activity as customers hedged against the possibility of a strike.

And auto sales and output—both now running well ahead of last year—are due to dwindle when the model changeovers start.

But most of the rest of the economy, the optimists insist, will pull ahead.

They base their enthusiasm on the general health of business with inventories mostly well in hand, the rising expenditures at various government levels, and the unshaken confidence of consumers which optimists interpret to mean that retail sales should go on rising if only modestly.

They admit the usual summer slowdown for vacations in a number of industries will soon arrive. Even the most optimistic aren't downgrading the problem of rising unemployment this summer because teen-agers can't find jobs.

But then they run off the list of strong points.

Much steel ordering has been for a strike hedge, and therefore temporary. But a sizable part of the increased sales has been to customers who needed the steel for their own increasing business. Hence, the drop in steel output may be less than feared earlier.

Auto sales in the first third of June topped year ago figures by 5.6 per cent, and currently production is 17 per cent ahead of this time last year. The holdover of 1963 models at changeover time is expected to be well below a year ago.

Industrial output is at a record high, having risen for five straight months. It is likely to dip or level off this summer, but the majority of economists still hold it will rise further in the fall.

The future of construction, currently at high level, is still a question. Business spending for new plant and equipment is far from booming, but also it is better than a year ago. Home and apartment building remains high. So, on the whole construction should bolster the economy—certainly not drag it down.

A certainty is a rise in government spending. Federal, state and local projects are being started and contracts awarded. And increased borrowing, at all levels of government, foreshadows still more spending ahead.

The recent slight tightening of credit in the short-term market doesn't discourage the optimist who points out there is still ample credit available for the long-term borrower—whether he be businessman, home builder, car buyer, government official. And this ample supply is counted upon to keep long-term interest rates low enough to encourage at least a moderate expansion in the economy.

The final item on the optimist's list is taxes.

State and local taxes are rising a good deal more often than they are falling. But federal income taxes may be cut. Individuals may get a rate cut starting the first of next year, if congressional thinking follows the course presently indicated. Corporations look for relief scattered over the next two or three years.

Completes Course

James A. Whitley, Navy seaman recruit, son of Art L. Whitley of 2000 Redwood Highway, San Rafael, recently completed nine weeks basic training at the Naval Training Center at San Diego, graduating in the weekly recruit brigade review involving some 3,000 recruits.

Assembly Gets Mental Aid Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — An amended version of a bill to boost state aid to local mental health clinics is on the Assembly floor after ways and means committee approval. The Senate-passed measure by Sen. Alan Short (D-Stockton) would raise state subsidies by two million dollars annually.

The amendments adopted yesterday would prevent the state matching any new federal money, and take away the California Conference of Local Mental Health Directors' veto over clinic standards set by the state.

New or increased programs would get 75 per cent state aid, instead of 50 per cent as at present.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare maintains a staff of approximately 82,000 employees.

End Of Braceros May Push Up Prices

By ROBERT STRAND

SALINAS (UPI)—The ending of the bracero program is expected to boost farm wages sharply and to increase the grocery price of fruits and vegetables.

And it may set off a chain reaction of far-reaching consequences which could seriously disrupt numerous communities.

A bracero is a Mexican who comes to the U. S. for a few limited months to help harvest crops. Last year 195,000 roamed as far east as Indiana.

They are nothing like the stereotype idea of Jose dozing under a sombrero. "They kill themselves" working, a Sacramento worker once complained at a government hearing.

Here in Salinas, Clancy Wilson, a field supervisor, explains that a bracero is eager because "he comes to us hungry."

One of his workers, Luis Torres, 35, said that in his own Zacatecas village he earns only 10 pesos (83 cents) a day. He hopes to take home enough money to buy a cow for his family of six.

In this country braceros are paid prevailing wage rates. Most braceros work in the Southwest where earnings vary between 50 cents an hour in parts of Arkansas, New Mexico and Texas and $1.33 in California.

Generally, braceros do the "stoop labor," bending to pluck vegetables under the hot sun 10 to 12 hours a day, seven days a week. They live in long, narrow dormitories, isolated from town, while their families remain in Mexico.

The bracero program began during the Korean War under an agreement with the Mexican government. Mexico benefitted because returning braceros were a major source of dollars and contributed new ideas to their villages.

Last month the U. S. House of Representatives, at the urging of labor and church groups, refused to extend the program beyond Dec. 31.

Its opponents said the braceros kept U. S. wage rates down. Now that 5.9 per cent of the nation's workers are unemployed, they said Mexican help is no longer needed.

According to former Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell, a Republican, its presence forces Americans to work under conditions which are "an affront to the conscience of the American people."

But the House action was largely unexpected. Farmers, who had wanted a gradual phase-out, are demanding, where can they get substitutes? California, which uses braceros all year long, alone has 72,900 at peak periods.

Farmers say they cannot obtain enough domestic field labor because the work is too hard. Also, many workers now must leave their families at home while traveling to distant harvests.

The American agricultural worker is lucky if he works nine months a year. Since his earnings include no fringe benefits such as unemployment and medical insurance, he goes on relief when out of work.

Local volunteers no longer turn out in large numbers to help during critical times. Farmers say teen-agers nowadays don't want much to help and aren't much good when they do.

The answer, the AFL-CIO says, is to drastically increase wages.

For example, some California labor leaders believe that a 50 per cent wage increase next year would produce plenty of workers.

This argument is supported by the world's largest lettuce grower, Bud Antle, a maverick in his industry. Next year will be a headache, he says, but higher wages will attract enough workers and they may be able to form permanent local work forces.

That would pose some giant problems for numerous communities.

American farm laborers have wives and children in this country. But areas now using braceros have no houses and no schools for such families and no eagerness to see their relief rolls soar.

Salinas, population 50,000, illustrates the magnitude of the problem. It is the heart of a valley producing half the nation's lettuce and artichokes and at peak periods it now uses 13,500 braceros.

In addition, City Mgr. Tom Dunn fears that American agricultural workers will include large numbers of alcoholic bums, flooding jail facilities. Other Salinas citizens frankly are afraid minority groups would come to live full-time.

Kaehler-Farrar Building Activity Still There—But It's Underground

Construction on San Rafael's tallest downtown office structure, the Kaehler-Farrar Building at Fourth and C Streets, may seem to be in a stage of suspended animation—but it isn't. Five or six crafts are busy working — electricians, plumbers, sheet metal and heating workers, elevator men, concrete and steel workers—but most of them are below ground level where you can't see them.

Most of the concrete floors have been poured, the elevator should start running up and down in a few days, and hanging the exterior wall panels may get under way this week. After that you might as well give up your sidewalk supervising until the trim is ready for installation. Completion date is still set for sometime between September 15 and Oct. 1.

New Community Church Proposal Is Approved

Marin County Planning Commissioners yesterday approved a permit for construction of a church on the northeast corner of Lucas Valley Road and Las Gallinas Avenue.

The first unit will consist of a chapel with a seating capacity of 80 to 85, an overflow room having a capacity of 25 persons, living quarters for Nystrom and his family, and three Sunday School rooms.

Davidson Students Learn Of Radiation In Special Class

By LOREN MacARTHUR

A window box of stunted radish plants and dishes of misshapen chicken embryos has led 12 students at Davidson Junior High School deep into the microscopic world of nuclear radiation and its effects on living things.

The students last week left school for the summer carrying with them copies of the "Davidson Journal of Science," the only concrete evidence of their studies.

The journal contained detailed reports they had written on carefully thought out scientific experiments they conducted while members of an unusual year-long class on radiation. The class, in its second year, is taught after school by scientists from California Research Corp. in Richmond. More important than stating results of the experiments, the reports showed a striking comprehension of the scientific method and the limitations the students knew they faced with their experiments.

As student Martha Puente wrote: "I know that this project was not a failure by any means. If 'science' didn't learn anything from it, at least I did."

The fundamental principles of how an atom is put together and what happens when it fuses or is split were elementary to the scientists who taught the course. To the students, the principles "went deeper into everything" than anything they had studied before.

"It was completely different from anything I'd done before," said Sue Clayton. She and Linda Walker caught tiny organisms called crustaceans (cyclops, ostracods and daphnia), had them radiated with different amounts of gamma radiation and studied the effects on reproduction.

The daphnia, they found, turned dark. The cyclops had more offspring than a control group not irradiated, and the ostracods died "without having reproduced at all."

Boys in the class were outnumbered eight to four by the girls. The four concentrated on building devices with which to study and detect radiation, a Geiger counter, an oscillator and a cloud chamber, built by Robert Ryan.

"In the second year there was a lot of repetition," said Robert Pinkus, who with David Denison built a Geiger counter, which counts radiation particles. "The repetition cleared up a lot of things we didn't get last year."

"It gives you a feel for science," explained David.

An oscillator, which converts sun rays to sounds, was built by Francis Dahl.

"The class took a lot of concentration," added Linda Walker, "but it would have been boring if it were too low. There wouldn't be a challenge."

A packet of ordinary radish seeds were irradiated with different amounts of gamma rays at California Research Corp. for Nancy Tabor, Wendy Strom and Cherie Jordan.

The girls watched the seeds grow to study the effects of radiation on the seedlings.

The experiment was almost washed away by the bad weather faced by all Marin gardeners this spring but the girls noted these effects:

Those seeds with the most radiation grew thick first leaves, then wilted and died. The plants with less radiation were not as resistant to the poor growing conditions as were the controls, and the stems began to wilt near the ground.

All the students credit Adrian Van Herwynen, Davidson science teacher, with interesting them in advanced study.

"Nothing I'd studied had gone into something that deep," said Cherie Jordan, who someday hopes to be a nuclear physicist.

Martha Puente irradiated fertile eggs with different amounts of Cobalt-60 gamma rays and opened a new egg from each group every few days to study the embryo.

"Although none of the eggs was allowed to complete the incubation period," she concluded, "it is probable that none of the irradiated eggs would have produced a normal chick. I'm a little more scared of a nuclear bomb than I used to be," she added.

A final experiment on the effects of radiation on fruit flies and how many offspring they have was conducted by Jan Noble and Tina Brinckerhoff.

Their conclusion reflects the best in cautious scientific statement: "Such a small number of experiments with so few flies is not completely conclusive, but it appears that gamma radiation in increasing dosages is increasingly damaging to the reproduction of fruit flies."

Jan summed up the class' feelings with these words: "Now I know the way real grownups do it."

Her father, Edward Noble, was one of the chemists who taught the class. All the scientists have children in San Rafael schools, though not necessarily in junior high.

"It's difficult enough to put this into language and concepts these children could understand," concluded Noble. "By the time we got through, I think they understood it, considering the limited exposure they've had."

Parking Areas, Free Bus Service Planned For Marin Art, Garden Fair

Special parking areas and free bus service to and fro have been arranged for visitors to the Marin Art and Garden Fair, it was announced today by Marcelle B. McCoy, fair manager.

Free parking will be available, courtesy of the College of Marin, at the student parking area at the college and buses holding 40 persons will pick up fair visitors starting opening night, July 3 and from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. through July 7 at the site and deliver occupants at the entrance to the fair. Round trips will be made at 20-minute intervals.

A similar service, courtesy City of San Anselmo, will offer free parking on the railroad right of way between Ross and Bolinas avenues. Buses will be available for pick up and delivery, chartered by the fair without cost to fairgoers.

Water Reclamation Importance Cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has heard and read some powerful arguments recently for the conservation and development of water resources.

Advocates say reclamation—once of interest mainly in the arid West—is getting increasing attention in the East and South where water is more plentiful but some day may be scarce.

The National Rivers and Harbors Congress, which promotes navigation projects, has this report from one of its special committees:

"Irrigation projects create new, additional, renewable economical bases for the project area, the state, the region and the nation. They are stabilizing islands in vast areas of our country whose principal economic problem is a wide fluctuation of gross annual income.

"Not only the irrigators, but all people become beneficiaries. Here are the living quarters for the expanding population, new businesses, new jobs, opportunities for the young. This is not local development. This is the nation's business."

William E. Welsh, secretary-manager of the National Reclamation Assn., told a House Appropriations subcommittee "Reclamation is vitally important to each of the 17 western states which comprise an area of 60 per cent of the area of the original 48 states.

Welsh said irrigation projects "take land out of the production of crops which are in surplus and put those lands into other types of general farming."

He said they also "break farms up into smaller units, creating opportunities for a much larger number of people . . . helping the economy of business and industry in the area."

Rep. Wayne Aspinall (D-Colo.), chairman of the House Interior Committee, which handles reclamation legislation, told the appropriations subcommittee that project construction should be carried on at the rate of $300 million annually.

Floyd E. Dominy, federal reclamation commissioner, said in a speech that Congress in 60 years has authorized 135 projects and the government has spent $3.2 billion on more than 200 dams impounding 130 million acre-feet of water for irrigation and power generation.

"Project operations," Dominy said, "now return revenues of more than 90 million dollars a year and additional millions in federal, state and local taxes, without counting the jobs provided in project construction and operation, and in processing and service industries in the communities adjoining reclamation projects."

Declaring the nation soon will be hard-pressed to keep ahead of water needs, Dominy concluded:

1. We must make more efficient use of water. "Because water has been so plentiful, we, as a people, have been notorious in our waste."

2. "We must build water projects for all uses, and all users must be persuaded to help pay their proportionate costs."

3. "We must accelerate basic and applied research in hydrology," the science of water treatment.

"Let's reach for the moon, but not forget the earth—especially the semi-arid and arid portions of it."

Demos Tell Choice For Postmaster

Mrs. Dorothy Mayfield of Stinson Beach has been recommended by the Marin County Democratic Central Committee for appointment as postmaster of Stinson Beach.

She would succeed Mrs. Harvey Zion, acting postmaster.

The committee has forwarded its recommendation to Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif.), according to committee chairman Peter Allen Smith.

Democratic Club Sets Box Supper

An old-fashioned box supper will be sponsored by the Mill Valley Democratic Club at 7 p.m. Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Schultz, 26 Ralston Avenue.

It is a fund-raising party, women to bring box suppers and men to bid for them. John G. Donhoff will be auctioneer. Entertainment will be by Dick Dawe and Esther and Joe Allen, according to Robert Mullins, president.

Artists To Display Work At Festival

Five Marin County artists will display work at the El Cerrito Art Festival, starting Thursday at the El Cerrito Plaza shopping center.

They are Leslie Chappell, Mill Valley, leather work; Marion Aultman, jewelry and painting; Bernard Goerge, Tiburon, sculpture; Florence Packard, Mill Valley, pottery and jewelry, and Tyne Birbeck, Mill Valley, paintings.

The American public received an average of 5.2 million dollars a day from insurance companies during 1962 to help pay for hospital care.

They were charged with disturbing the peace and being drunk after police were called to the scene by bar owner Walter John Krause at 10:56 p.m.

Suspension Ordered On Liquor License
